SKINNY KIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

What we owe the wizard of Menlo Park was brought closer home last Saturday evening when the business district voluntarily enforced a fifteen minute dark schedule. Our appreciation of the incandescent light was intensified when the illumination was restored. It sort of aroused the inquiry as to how invaluable light is, dependable light, and plenty of it. Santa Ana was introducing the holiday season. It couldn't be done here or anywhere else without Edison's invention. Ever since the creation of the world light has been the beacon of human hope. Maybe you thought of the same thing Saturday night when the electric current was turned on after a fifteen-minute dark period.

When an automobile and a bicycle collide it has been my observation that the bicycle gets second money, if it gets any. It has filtered through my mental substitution that accidents of this type are often invited through failure of the man who uses the two-wheel transportation to use the signals which the law requires. What provoked this item has been two recent bicycle accidents, and another close-call, the latter within my own observation and the other two brought to my attention.

I hope that Santa Claus has to come to town in a boat.

The Elks Memorial service Sunday in which departed brothers were honored, and the custom in general, made me think we as a race try to make up for our delinquencies. What we should do is to honor one another while we are all here. Not after some of us have gone. I wouldn't stop the memorial custom. It is fitting and appropriate. But some how or other it has the tinge of withholding the flowers which could have been used to good advantage during life.

Rancher stops for gab about the weather. Wants to know when the rainy season starts. So do I.

So far I have not heard of any rush to get Guy Roebuck four tickets to the Alabama-California football game, but there is still time.

Walter Gray looks for a hard winter. He has been busy for several days cutting up walnut wood. Wait had a few men cutting down trees and they left 'em where they fell. That wasn't satisfactory to a good rancher, so he started the clean-up, without the aid of law enforcement officers or any one else. Wait used to be city water superintendent, and a good one. Wonder what he thinks of the water situation now, not from the city standpoint but from the rancher viewpoint.

And then there was the fellow who was at peace with all the world because he had just completed a deal for the purchase of two pistols. That's the Christmas spirit.

So far as the weather prognosis is concerned John Trickey is ahead. He predicted the most electric dry winds, and has delivered them. What I dislike about his predictions is that he has a few more electric winds up his prophetic sleeve. I hope they go haywire. What most of us want and hope for is a flood, just a mild one.

And then the fem friend thinks I would have more appeal if there was a rose boutonniere in the upper left corner of my coat, and before I left her there was. Flowers start a lot of inquiry. The most satisfactory answer is the frank, unimpeachable source of the contribution. It stops a multitude of interrogations.

A close call may not put the fear of God in your heart, but it seems to suggest that caution is a virtue. At Bush and Fifth an autoist thought he didn't have time to wait for a passing truck, jammed the brakes so quickly that he allowed a half dozen other cars to pass before he recovered his nerve.

Of course it is none of my business if the lights are left on Saturday night, all day Sunday and Sunday night at a used car lot. It goes to prove that some employee neglected to function, and his employer who pays him his salary also paid for his negligence.

Met a fellow today who said he

27-DEGREE MARK HITS FRUIT BELT

Growers Smudge in Effort to Save Crop

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The most severe cold wave of the season tumbled temperatures throughout Florida early today and forecasters said some fruit and vegetable damage was inevitable.

Fruit men said it would be 10 days before any accurate check could be made.

Smudge fires were general in north and central Florida citrus groves. Tender vegetables were given protective coverings of straw, paper, cloth and even earth.

Early reports indicated the lower East coast had escaped freezing temperatures. But at Lakeland, in the citrus area, a low of 27 degrees was recorded, and near Orlando, another citrus center, 25 degrees.

The state experiment station at Belle Glade reported a heavy frost. A preliminary survey showed some damage to the bean crop.

First temperature reports showed minimums of 28 at Tampa, 20 at the Jacksonville airport, 37 at West Palm Beach, and 36 at Miami.

E. S. Ellison of the frost warning service said pending the official forecast, he would not say whether the weather would be as severe tonight.

Miami public schools were closed until the cold wave passes because school buildings there have no facilities for heating. Six persons were treated and dismissed at Miami hospitals for illness brought on by inhaling fumes from open charcoal heaters.

CHICAGO (AP)—Stuart Putnam Meech, 40, associate professor of finance at the University of Chicago and author of books on banking, was found shot and critically wounded today in his hotel apartment. A small caliber pistol, with one bullet discharged, was at his side.

He was taken to the Illinois Central hospital where physicians said a bullet had entered his right temple.

Professor Meech, who was prominent in the business world as an investment counselor, was found unconscious on the floor of the locked bathroom by his wife, Maxine, when she returned home after visiting friends. She said her husband had been in ill health for several years.

Pioneer Dies In Martinez

MARTINEZ, (AP)—Descendant of a pioneer family, Mrs. Guadalupe Plumb, 85, died at her home here yesterday after an illness of two days. Her grandfather, Ignacio Martinez, founded the town of Martinez.

Lindbergh May Fly Huge Plane

BALTIMORE (AP)—Col. Charles Lindbergh has been invited by the Glenn L. Martin company to inspect, and fly if he wishes, a giant flying boat built for a Soviet transport. Company officials confirmed the invitation today but said no reply had been received.

Lindbergh, technical advisor to Pan-American Airways, for whom Martin built several smaller flying boats, undoubtedly is deeply interested, they said.

25 BILLION ASKED FOR RECOVERY

Du Pont Urges Business to Act

NEW YORK (AP)—A planned recovery by industry itself to the amount of $25,000,000,000 or more to create 3,000,000 new jobs, was proposed today by Lamont Du Pont, president of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., in an address to the National Association of Manufacturers.

Previously the manufacturers had heard their association president, William B. Warner, put forward a four-fold program calling for "teamwork between capital, labor, management and government," in which he appealed especially to government to give some reassurance of "a changed attitude towards business."

Other speakers at the first session of the manufacturers' convention were Raymond Rubicam, advertising man, who said "the cause of industry and business is in a better light with the public today than it has been since 1928. The recent tactics of labor unions are one reason. The administration (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

PLANES LOST IN TYPHOON

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—The United States army air corps and the Philippine government tonight marshalled all available air, sea and land forces to search for the Philippine army chief of staff and four other army officers, one an American.

Fears were expressed the five men flying in two planes, one laden with bombs, were caught by a Visayan typhoon and crashed into the rugged Sierra Madre or the Pacific ocean around Monday noon.

Major General Paulino Santos, chief of staff, and Colonel Fidel Segundo, chief of the Philippine army intelligence corps, were in a transport plane flown by Lieut. William Lee of the United States army. Missing in a loaded bomber were Major Manuel Olympia and Lieut. Guillermo Francisco.

Some government officials expressed hope the planes landed in an isolated spot in Northern Tayabas province roughly 50 miles from Manila, but lacked facilities to report their safety.

The United States army prepared to send out a squadron of searching planes at dawn tomorrow. Government steamers in the general region were ordered to stand by to participate in the search if necessary.

The hunt may be hampered by the typhoon which turned from its westward course and headed back toward the Pacific ocean where it originated. The typhoon, the third in three weeks to sweep the islands, left heavy crop and property damage and claimed at least two lives.

Probe 'Rackets' In L. A. Business

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The complaints of three Los Angeles business men that racketeers had tried to force them to pay "protection" money were under investigation today by the district attorney's office.

Prize

This interesting statue in the modern manner, called "Kneeling Woman," was awarded the Founders society prize of $200, at the annual exhibition of the District Institute of Arts, at the Detroit museum. The sculpture by Samuel Cashman.

FINLAND PLANS DEBT PAYMENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Finland notified the United States today it would meet promptly its $232,147 war debt installment, due Dec. 15.

The Baltic republic is the only one of 13 war debtors which has not defaulted on its war time obligation.

Payments due from the 13 debtors this month total $1,680,170,447.

The state department has received no indications from any of the other debtors that they intend to resume payments.

MONROVIA (AP)—Three hundred fire fighters had brought under control today a brush fire which swept 150 acres of brush and forest in Clover Leaf canyon.

Santa Ana Kids Will Play Santa

Who is Santa Claus? A big, jolly, white-whiskered old gentleman in red suit and boots? No sir—Santa Claus is thousands of Santa Ana kids. At least he is once a year.

Because once a year Santa Ana's kids have a chance to turn the tables on Saint Nick, and slide down a few chimneys themselves (in a fanciful sort of way, of course).

The occasion is the annual P-T. A-Journal Christmas show at the Broadway theater. The show is scheduled for next Saturday at 9:30 in the morning this year.

Here's your chance to play Santa Claus to hundreds of little fellows who haven't as nice homes or as many Christmas presents as you do—and incidentally to see a swell show and have the time of your lives besides.

All you must do is bring a serviceable article of clothing, an old toy, or an unperishable article of food to the Broadway theater

NEW RECORDS SET IN WATER FIGURES

Levels High Despite Drought

Records, as far as the county water situation is concerned, were two for a nickel today.

In the space of a year virtually every kind of a mark has been broken, a search of statistics showed today.

Last season's rainfall was the heaviest since 1914.

The current drought is the longest since 1915.

Water levels last year fell to the lowest mark in the county's history.

Water levels this year, despite the record drought, are higher than they were before pumping even was started last year.

Check of county water companies revealed that this year's pumping has not even used up the surplus stored by last year's "highest" rainfall.

Wells right now are pumping at higher levels than when pumping started last year, authorities revealed, indicating a record storage resulted from last year's rain.

That same rain, incidentally, resulted in a flood eclipsing all records from 1916 on.

Only an "unmeasurable" trace of rain has fallen in the county since April 27, when .07 of an inch fell here.

Yet from upper counties today came word that the Santa Ana river is flowing 2100 inches—more than twice the volume of last year—and that even if not a drop of rain fell this winter conditions would be better than in 1933 and 1934, fairly dry years.

Costs of irrigation remain virtually the same in the county as last year, despite the record drought.

Turkey Breaks Syria Pact

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Turkey denounced her treaty of friendship and non-aggression with Syria today in a note to the French government, which administers Syria under League of Nations mandate.

The Turkish view apparently was that the attitude of French authorities in Syria had been inimical to Turkish-Syrian amity.

Turkish-Syrian relations have been strained the past year particularly on the question of French administration of the Sanjak (state) of Alexandretta on the Turkish frontier.

One of the condemned was a peasant accused of hiring a friend to kill a woman candidate for the Supreme Soviet "because she denounced his disruptive behavior in a collective farm." The friend, instead of carrying out the alleged plot, was said to have denounced the plotter.

Six persons were sentenced to death in Ordjonikidze province and four in the Crimea for "practices which killed livestock."

N. Y. Official Still Missing

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—The disappearance of Arthur Fried, New York business man, still mystified authorities today as they pushed investigation into reports he had been kidnapped.

Fried, 32, Bronx office manager of the Colonial Sand and Stone company, vanished Saturday night. A few hours after his car was found abandoned in a lonely section on the outskirts of White Plains it was reported he had been abducted and was being held for ransom, the amount varying from $100,000 to $200,000.

His family repeated denials they knew anything of a kidnapping, holding to the belief Fried had disappeared voluntarily.

Famous Mare Dies

Minor Injury Fatal to Reina

The queen is dead.

Reina, whose proud heart carried her to hundreds of triumphs in the past eight years, stepped on a nail and died from resulting complications.

She left behind her a showcase filled with gold cups and blue ribbons, testimonial to the beauty and spirit that made her Mrs. Clyde Deardorff's proudest possession.

Reina was a champion horse. Her legion of admirers stretched from Santa Ana to Alaska, wherever horse shows were held. When Miss Barbara Rowland was crowned California's "Outdoor Girl" at the Salinas Rodeo of two years ago, the mayor's daughter rode out before the packed stands on Reina.

At the last Assistance League horse show it was Reina that captured the judges' eye, and brought home coveted prizes.

Mrs. Deardorff's brother, Gene Thomas, who always rode the horse, found her picture in an Alaska store window last year.

Her last appearance was in Anaheim last month, during the Halloween parade. True to form, Reina brought home a gold cup for the overflowing trophy case.

When she died she was being groomed for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Jan. 1.

In her eight years of competition, Mrs. Deardorff said today, Reina never had placed lower than third in competition.

"Nothing," her owner said today, "ever hurt as much as putting her under ground. There'll never be another parade that won't find me looking for her proud head, ears pointed, looking out over the crowd."

"Reina was priceless." There will be no other horse in her place, Mrs. Deardorff said. Reina's silver bridle and her saddle will be hung there. And a trophy case, filled to its capacity, will remain in her memory.

POLICE HALT INITIATION

Traffic and pedestrians last night were compelled to halt by 14 strangely attired figures ranged up and down Fourth street and controlled stop signals at Fourth and Main, stopping cars and distributing mementoes.

It was Bachelor initiation night! But a patrolling police car interrupted proceedings and removed culprit Jerry Boyd, Pete Coker, and Jerry Nesmith to headquarters on charges of disturbing the peace.

No charges were filed, although the boys wished they might have a peaceful spot where they could "get away from it all."

The police department were only doing their duty by helping out the Bachelors furnish that realistic touch.

All 14 initiates who became members were Joe Allen, Ted De Velhuis, Jerry Nesmith, Pete Coker, Glen Keiser, Don Struck, Lynn Arnett, Cal Calaway, Jack Lentz, Jack Murphy, Gil Nehrig, Danny Boyd, Dick Saunders, and Bill Huntalals.

Bob Faul and "Rusty" Roquet had charge of planning initiation antics.

Car Benson served supper at his home for all old and new members after the initiates finished performing for Santa Ana.

Officers of the Bachelors include Dave Phoenix, grand exalted; Bill Twist, senior exalted; Roy Potter, keeper of the writ; and Larry Todd, stoolie.

13 TO DIE IN SOVIET PURGE

MOSCOW (AP)—Thirteen death sentences were reported today in the "purge" of alleged anti-Soviet elements in the Russian provinces.

One of the condemned was a peasant accused of hiring a friend to kill a woman candidate for the Supreme Soviet "because she denounced his disruptive behavior in a collective farm." The friend, instead of carrying out the alleged plot, was said to have denounced the plotter.

Six persons were sentenced to death in Ordjonikidze province and four in the Crimea for "practices which killed livestock."

LABOR ROW MAY AFFECT SHOWS HERE

Union Plans for General Walkout

Threat of a walkout on 48 hours' notice of building service employees of the 200 film houses operated by the Fox West Coast theater chain caused some apprehension among officials of the two Fox theaters here, although they indicated they did not expect employees to go through with the strike.

The walkout was threatened by members of the newly recognized building service employees' union, an affiliation of janitors, after negotiations in Los Angeles with the West Coast theater operators for a signed contract assertedly had reached a deadlock.

If the Santa Ana maintenance men go on strike, consequently, they would be striking against the building maintenance company, and not the theaters, officials explained.

RABES TOLL MOUNTS TO 20

The La Habra rabies toll today had mounted to 20.

Four more dogs were taken to the county pound today by Poundmaster Pickering and destroyed. One additional animal was placed under quarantine at home.

Eleven had been destroyed yesterday as the result of the rampages. The La Habra rabies dog, discovered to be infected with rabies after he had run amok and bitten more than a score of animals in La Habra.

In the meantime, Health Officer Dr. H. Sutherland said, all dogs in the La Habra area had been placed under a 90-day quarantine in order to safeguard spread of the disease.

Dr. Sutherland broadcast a warning to all persons who might have come in contact with diseased dogs to report to county authorities for inoculation against the malady.

REOPEN SPAIN CARLIST DRIVE

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier. (AP)—Prince Xavier of Bourbon-Parma, head of the traditionalist branch of the Spanish royal family, was reported today to have agreed with insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco "on the necessity of uniting all Spaniards worthy of the name on a basis of national and traditional principles."

While intense cold and snow suspended military operations along the entire Aragon front of northeastern Spain, dispatches from Salamanca, the insurgent capital, told of a conference yesterday in which Xavier and Franco discussed the present and future of Spain. The talks were followed by a communique.

Prince Alfonso Carlos of Bourbon, who 60 years ago attempted unsuccessfully to seize the Spanish throne, died Sept. 30, 1936. In his will Carlos—who died childless—named Xavier, brother of former Empress Zita of Austria, to choose his successor as Carlist pretender.

'Fixed' Race Is Costly to English Visitor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three men were held in lieu of $100,000 bail each today as the district attorney's office investigated a suspected race track bunko scheme.

Harry Millachip, retired London meat packer, told Captain Jess Winn he gave the trio $30,000 to prove his good faith after they gave him race tips which netted him a paper profit of $11,000 and then proposed a "big killing."

A detective detail raided a hotel room here last night, Captain Winn reported, and seized nearly $30,000 in cash, which was under a mattress.

Taken into custody in the room were Jack Stewart, Freddie Wilson and John Adams. Captain Winn said one of the men had a receipt showing that a turf syndicate they claimed to represent had wagered $154,000 on a race that would return them $308,000 if their horse won.

LABOR ROW MAY AFFECT SHOWS HERE

Union Plans for General Walkout

Threat of a walkout on 48 hours' notice of building service employees of the 200 film houses operated by the Fox West Coast theater chain caused some apprehension among officials of the two Fox theaters here, although they indicated they did not expect employees to go through with the strike.

The walkout was threatened by members of the newly recognized building service employees' union, an affiliation of janitors, after negotiations in Los Angeles with the West Coast theater operators for a signed contract assertedly had reached a deadlock.

If the Santa Ana maintenance men go on strike, consequently, they would be striking against the building maintenance company, and not the theaters, officials explained.

There is no Santa Ana local of the building maintenance company, labor officials said today, and for that reason the threatened statewide walkout is not expected to effect the two theaters here.

It was understood the strike would not include local stage hands and motion picture operators, which already are under contract with the theaters here.

News of the janitors' negotiations with Fox West Coast officials came from Stockton, where John McNally, business agent of the Stockton local, announced he had been advised by Charles Harding, union international vice president, that negotiations in Los Angeles had reached a deadlock.

EIGHT DIE IN BUS WRECK

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Ambulances raced from Mexico City today to Zimapan, Hidalgo state, where eight persons were reported killed and 45 injured in a collision of two passenger buses on a fog-bound highway.

Zimapan, where the accident happened before midnight, is 130 miles from here.

Bob Burns Fights Radio Company

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Suit for an injunction to prohibit use of his radio transmissions was on file today by Bob Burns, film comedian, against C. C. Eyle, officer of the Radio Transmission Company of America and one-time "burnion derby" impresario.

Burns claimed that other talent has been put on transmissions with his own offering, and that the other material is of a "vulgar and suggestive character," damaging to his reputation.

Beats Rival With Venus Statue For Love Theft

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Mary J. Nuese, who is accused of beating with a statuette of Venus De Milo the woman she thought stole her husband's love, expressed contentment today with her city jail cell.

"I don't care what happens now. I feel secure here in jail—and I even like the food," she said, adding:

"I wouldn't even care if they sent me to the penitentiary. Perhaps I could learn to support myself there."

Mrs. Nuese is specifically charged with suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon with murderous intent.

In her jail cell, Mrs. Nuese, whose dancing at a San Francisco social function many years ago inspired the late George Sterling to write the poem, "To a Girl Dancing," said she went to the home of Mary Bishop, an artist, and accused her of stealing the love of her husband, Carlos J. Nuese, also an artist.

"I chanted, 'cockroach, cockroach, cockroach,' and hit her and hit her," said Mrs. Nuese. "I choked her, too."

JAPANESE INVADERS ASSAIL WALLS OF CHINESE CAPITAL CITY

NANKING MAY FALL BEFORE NIPPONESE

Defenders Still Fight Off Attack

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Advance columns of Japanese troops assailed Nanking's historic walls tonight. Japanese officers who announced the attack said a spearhead of the invaders was attempting to climb the city's massive battlements with scaling ladders—a maneuver handed down through the middle ages.

Gates of the apparently doomed city were closed. Chinese had started a final stand which seemed destined to fail.

Japanese asserted that their main forces had not yet reached the city but added that they were "progressing satisfactorily and according to schedule."

KAI-SHEK FLEES The spokesman did not say how soon he expected the fall of the one-time fountainhead of Nationalist China.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, China's leader, had left Nanking, Chinese advisers disclosed. He and Madame Chiang, head of China's air force, were said to have departed by airplane for Nanchang, capital of the interior province of Kiangsi. The government evacuated two weeks ago.

Meager foreign dispatches trickling through from Nanking confirmed Japanese reports that Nippon's warplanes had pounded the city with bombs. These dispatches, however, did not mention the extent of casualties or damage.

The Chinese boom at Kiangyin, blocking Japanese warships from an attack on Nanking, remained intact. Japanese previously had reported its destruction.

STILL FIGHTING Chinese said their troops were more than holding their own except in the Nanking area. Flying columns of China's Communist armies were said to be amassing a guerrilla force of 100,000 to harass Japanese in North China.

A Japanese embassy spokesman said proposals of foreigners to save Hangchow from bombardment were under consideration with the possibility that a neutral zone might be designated.

A Chinese report said, however, that Japanese had bombed Hangchow's Chien-tang river waterfront. A major Japanese drive on Hangchow was expected to follow the Nanking campaign.

The time has passed to pay your first half taxes without the penalty, but inasmuch as the penalty is 8 per cent my advice would be to get your money in with the least possible delay. Eight per cent interest is a heavy load to carry. The first one is heavy enough.

Understand he put in a board here and a shingle there, and by the time he completed the work his house looked like a plaid skirt. I'm not sure he owns a house in Los Angeles. I'm not sure he even owns a board, much less a shingle. He's home, and that's enough for me. A mutual friend of his ventured the assertion that he didn't have a roof over his head, "cran-ium-ly" speaking.

Twelve dollars worth of groceries were stolen from E. M. Wade's grocery at Five Points in Huntington Beach Sunday night, Huntington Beach police reported yesterday. Entrance to the store was gained through an unlocked rear door.

Explosion Shatters Ship at Sea

This time it's peace instead of war, although the damaged bow of the Dutch motor tanker "Megara" appears much like one hit by a shell. An explosion, killing five Chinese crew members, shattered the ship's forecabin and tore a gaping hole in her bow while the 7992-ton vessel was 18 miles northwest of Ile D'Yeu, near Loire River, France. Cause of the explosion remained a mystery as she limped into Southampton.

NATION LOSES MELLON FIGHT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The United States board of tax appeals overruled today a major portion of the government's $3,075,103 tax claim against the late Andrew W. Mellon.

The decision said "petitioner (Mellon) did not file a false and fraudulent return with intention to evade taxes."

The board ruled for Mellon on six out of ten principal points comprising a seventh point, and ruled for the government on the other three.

The decision, which discussed only the legal interpretation of a score of issues, gave no figures on what tax deficiency, if any, the estate of the former secretary of the treasury will have to pay.

Mellon's lawyers, however, won a deduction for the cost of five priceless paintings which Mellon gave to his charitable and educational trust and which have since been donated to the federal government.

The Mellon estate now is building a national museum of art in Washington to house more than 50 famous paintings the ex-cabinet officer gave to the government before his death last summer at the age of 82.

REBEL BOMBERS STRIKE AGAIN

MADRID. (AP)—A heavy half-hour bombardment by insurgent warplanes inflicted heavy casualties in Madrid today. Many shells fell in the center of the city.

The insurgents bombed a number of East coast centers, and again attacked Reus, town of about 28,000 population 10 miles from the Mediterranean coast.

A report from Barcelona said insurgent planes bombed the southern part of the city, killing and wounding several persons.

Ambulances rushed to the scene while all tram cars were stopped. Later, government planes drove off the insurgent fliers.

THREAT LETTER FIGURE JAILED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Victor C. Dockings, who pleaded guilty to sending an extortion letter, was under a three-year prison sentence today.

The 22-year-old laundry worker was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge William P. James after he pleaded guilty to threatening to blind Dr. Harold P. Totten, Los Angeles physician, unless he was given $1000.

Hearing? What Hearing? Oh, That One!

Once upon a time the county said it would be nice if the U. S. army would survey upper Newport bay. The army took that seriously, and now has set a public hearing on a program about which the county feels rather indefinite.

That was the situation confronting county supervisors today, as they requested postponement of the hearing so they can find out what it all means.

The army, in setting a public hearing for Jan. 11, said it expected details of a complete development program, what sort of commercial navigation interests would be served by an improvement program on the upper bay.

Newport's city council wants the survey, too, the board was told. But supervisors want to find out more, and so does the Irvine company, owner of a majority of the property along the upper bay.

INDUSTRY PLANS 3,000,000 JOBS

James A. Emery, general counsel for the association, who recommended repeal or severe modification of the federal undistributed profits tax, elimination of the capital gains tax and amendment of the national labor relations act.

Du Pont envisioned bringing about a new era with eventual elimination of poverty and unemployment, through his three-fold program:

- 1. "Development and popularization of new products."
- 2. "Vastly broadening the market for existing products through lowering their cost."
- 3. "Maintaining a rule of fair return for all effort, not excepting capital effort."

Industry can put this plan into effect, he said, if given a "fair opportunity" through a three-fold government pledge covering these points:

- 1. "Stabilization of tax rates over a definite period."
- 2. "Stabilization of fair laboring conditions over a definite period."
- 3. "Immediate stabilization of the 'legal rules' under which business must operate, subject only to 'unmistakable public demand' for amendment."

He said the actual rate of taxes, or the actual scale of wages or hours, were not as important as stabilization.

Du Pont was emphatic in saying he was criticizing "nobody" for past difficulties.

"What has been done, wisely or unwisely, is behind us," he said. "Let us leave it there. It is no time for post mortems."

While he suggested no detailed plans for a $25,000,000,000 financing program, a task he described as "staggering," comparable to the government's World War financing which was managed by cooperation of all agencies, Du Pont, whose financial ability is respected in Wall Street, said "it is neither hopeless nor impossible."

PLAYWRIGHT'S WIFE MISSING

MONTEREY. (AP)—A search was started today for Mrs. Martin Flavin, wife of the Broadway playwright, who disappeared at midnight from her home at Carmel Highlands, 10 miles south of here.

Flavin and his friends began a hurried search for Mrs. Flavin in the fear she might have fallen over a cliff while taking a stroll. The region is rugged, with sharp cliffs dropping away to the ocean shoreline.

The searchers had not appealed to Sheriff Carl Abbott for aid, hoping they might be able to locate Mrs. Flavin themselves. Flavin authored "The Last Mile" among his Broadway successes.

MARY DUGAN PLAY SUCCESS

Competent portrayals by all characters, against the authentic background of a superior court room, last night made the first performance of "The Trial of Mary Dugan" one of the most successful dramas ever presented by the Santa Ana Community players.

Brilliant directing by Gladys Simpson Shafer of the Bayard Veiller melodrama, and capable acting by the performers brought pleased comments from the capacity audience. Outstanding was the performance of Franklin G. West as District Attorney Galwey.

Marion Graef is sincere and restrained in her role as Mary Dugan, show girl on trial for the slaying of Edgar Rice, multi-millionaire banker. Ably assisting her is George Tobias, young local attorney, as Jimmy Dugan, her younger brother, who in the midst of the trial takes up the job as defense attorney.

The interesting and effective character part of that of Henry Plaisted, foppish Fifth Avenue tailor of the dead man, taken by Harry Brackett. Edward M. Hall is distinguished as the defense attorney, Edward West.

CLEVER REPARTEE

Tense moments throughout the play are lightened by quick repartee. The surprising and dramatic conclusion is worthy of the most complicated murder mystery.

As a prelude to the story of Mary Dugan, a little Spanish girl is sentenced to a long jail term for killing her lover. Loretta Spangler plays this part well, with Charles Carillo as her attorney and court interpreter. Judge G. Kenneth Scovel is at ease in his familiar role of presiding judge.

Earl Abbey is the customary mumbleling court clerk, Fred Rowland presides as bailiff, and Harold H. Fish is an efficient stenographer. J. Northrop Ellis and Victor Morrison are other court attendants. Claude Blakemore is prominent as assistant district attorney.

Mrs. Gertrude Rice, widow of the slain man, is capably enacted by Ethel Macurda, and three attractive young women, Helen Johnson, Harriet Brackett Sims, and Lois Rees, give clever portrayals of different types of show girls.

Important testimony in the trial is given by Frank Harwood as Dr. Welcome, medical examiner; Jerome Duffy as the colored night elevator boy; Mayland Sims as Police Inspector Hunt, and Charles Seals as Police Captain Price.

Completing the brilliant cast are pretty Hazel Flier, Kuenzli as Marie Ducrot, the little French maid; Crawford Nalle as Patrick Kearney, a busy private detective, and M. Kevin Sweeney as Harry Jones.

Guitar Stolen From Restaurant

An electric steel guitar valued at $100 was stolen from La Hacienda cafe at 2036 West Fifth street shortly before midnight last night.

The theft was noticed a few minutes after cafe musicians had been using the instrument, and Manager Sol Gonzales told police he thought it was taken by a middle aged man who had described himself as an interior decorator and attempted to sell him a repainting job for the restaurant.

TOOTH STILL TROUBLES WASHINGTON. (AP)—White House officials said today examination of X-ray photographs had disclosed "no bone involvement" in President Roosevelt's unhealed tooth socket. Secretary Early told reporters this meant it would be unnecessary to scrap the jawbone to help the healing.

SHIP STRIKE END SEEN TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO. —Final settlement of the Pacific coast latest waterfront dispute — arising from the San Pedro "hot meal" incident — depended today on confirmation of the membership of one of the involved unions, and by the Shipowners' association of the Pacific.

The sailors Union of the Pacific membership voted last night on an agreement reached by their leaders and the firemen's union with the Shipowners' association. The operators expected to act on the dispute today.

Working relations between the Shipowners' association and the unions were resumed yesterday after a suspension of three days. The controversy started when sailors on the steam schooner James Griffith docked in San Pedro, went ashore for a hot meal on Sunday and then sought reimbursement from the ship owners. The gallery serves no hot dinner on Sundays in port when cooks and most seamen are on shore leave.

The Griffiths, tied up Friday when the operators broke off relations with the unions, sailed yesterday for San Francisco with a crew supplied on instructions of the union headquarters in San Francisco.

An agreement was noted in letters exchanged between the officials of the two unions and Ralph W. Myers, president of the shipowners groups.

Originally the dispute threatened to tie up 85 boats and cause the idleness of nearly 4000 men. Its brevity was a near-record in West Coast waterfront labor troubles.

Rutherford Rites Next Thursday

Mrs. Fannie Eugenia Rutherford, 81, a resident of Santa Ana for 16 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John P. Williams, 1213 South Van Ness street, Santa Ana, early this morning.

Mrs. Rutherford had lived here since 1921, when she moved here from Portland, Ore. She was born in Huntsville, Mo., and was a member of the First Baptist church in Santa Ana. In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Rutherford is survived by two grand-children, Rutherford Williams of Laguna Beach and Rubie Belle Williams of Santa Ana, and a niece, Mrs. Margaret Hardin of Los Angeles.

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the local First Baptist church, will read the funeral service in the Melrose Abbey chapel at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Entombment will be in the mausoleum, with the Gillogley Funeral home of Orange in charge.

Seal Beach Seeks Veterans' Hall

Seal Beach took first steps today toward getting a veterans' memorial hall, to be applied for under a WPA project, under auspices of the American Legion.

Sam B. Carpenter, chairman of the building committee of Legion Post 300, Seal Beach, appeared before supervisors today, and asked what steps to take. The county pays 20 per cent of the cost of such buildings, which have been authorized recently at Buena Park and Costa Mesa.

Engineer Hired To Alay Worries

D. W. Albert, San Francisco engineer who superintended construction of Santiago dam, was hired by the county for advice to worried water companies.

Water companies and the Irvine company are afraid Santiago dam may be weakened by 20 test drillings to be taken at the damsite by army engineers, working on the $15,000,000 flood control project. Albert, supervisors felt today, can assure them that no damage or seepage will result.

Judge Upheld In McCoy Case

Decision by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel last year in the long-fought McCoy drug store case had been upheld today by the fourth district court of appeal, according to a decision filed in the county clerk's office today.

Judge Scovel was upheld in his refusal to block supplementary proceedings in Santa Ana justice court to determine title to the McCoy Drug store in Santa Ana, against which a judgment previously had been rendered.

LEASE DRAFTED

Members of the chamber of commerce directors met today to discuss final draft of the lease with the Y. M. C. A. upon whose property the proposed new chamber of commerce building is to be erected. The plans and specifications for the building were to have been gone over with the firm of Austin and Wildman, who drew them up.

PAROLE VIOLATION

Henry Quintana, 40, Fourth and Garfield street, was booked in the county jail yesterday on a charge of violating parole from a non-support sentence. He is accused of failure to make regular payments for support of his minor child.

Weird Sea Mystery Still Puzzles Shipbuilders

SPENCES ISLAND, N. S. (AP)—The sixty-fifth anniversary of one of the world's weirdest nautical mysteries was marked off on the calendar today as the sea-minded folk of this old ship building port speculated on the fate of the crew of the brigantine, Marie Celeste.

Old-timers recalled, the superstitious with a shake of the head, how the brigantine, fashioned by the ship builders of this island, was sighted off the Azores, drifting aimlessly in the open seas.

All sail was set, not a rope was misplaced, food for the next meal lay on the table, the clock on the wall still ticked but the crew of 13 had vanished.

Capt. B. S. Briggs of Marion, Mass., his wife and daughter and 10 sailors were aboard when the ship left New York, bound for Genoa with a cargo of alcohol.

What happened to them is as much a mystery now as the day in 1872 when Captain Boyce of the British bark Dei Gratia, mystified when the Celeste ignored his signals, boarded her to find not a sign of life aboard.

In the log was the unfinished scrawl: "Fanny, my dear wife—" There wasn't a sign of mutiny, struggle or bloodshed. Piracy seemed unlikely. The cargo was intact and the sailors' chests were filled with clothing and money.

The suggestion the ship had been abandoned in a storm didn't hold water. She was as sound as a dollar and a bottle of medicine stood upright on the skipper's table.

POLICE BREAK THEFT RING SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Jewelry valued at $5000 and reported stolen in burglaries in San Francisco and Los Angeles was recovered today by police who said they arrested the thieves after one of them attempted to pawn some of the loot.

Police Officers Frank Hughes and John Nylan said they arrested Charles Kramer, 23, of New York when he tried to sell some pieces of jewelry in a pawnshop. They said Kramer confessed the jewelry was stolen. At a San Francisco address the officers arrested Daniel Elchuk, 22, of Boston.

A truck was required to carry away seven suitcases and a chest filled with stolen jewelry found in the youths' apartment, police said.

Haight to Seek Governorship

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Raymond L. Haight, Los Angeles attorney and former state corporation commissioner, said today "my mind is definitely made up to run for governor in 1938."

In the "hope of bringing about a fusion of true progressives," Haight said he would run for both Democratic and Progressive party nominations.

He disclosed his plans on his return from an eastern trip, during which he said he received the promise of Governor Phil La Follette of Wisconsin to visit California early next year.

Haight ran for governor in 1934 on the Progressive-Commonwealth ticket.

New 4-H Building For State Fair

Construction of the new $200,000 4-H club building on the state fair grounds is about to get under way, according to D. Eymann Huff, prominent Orange county rancher.

The building is to be the most complete structure of its kind in the United States, it is reported. The lower floor will be used for exhibits, the upper will contain dormitories for the exhibitors.

Of the 11,000 4-H members in California, there are more than 300 belonging in Orange county. Each year 30 or 40 Orange county members attend the state fair, according to Ross E. Crane, assistant county farm advisor.

County Denies Liability in Crash

Denying any liability for damages in an auto crash, supervisors today refused a $681.09 demand of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barnett, who were injured when their car was involved in a collision with a county auto in Costa Mesa. Refusal was on the recommendation of District Attorney W. F. Menton.

NEW CORK PLANT LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Lindgren & Swinterton of Los Angeles have been awarded a contract to build a manufacturing unit at South Gate, Los Angeles, for the Armstrong Cork company. The plant is to be completed by May 15, company officials said today.

STALLED CAR DEATH QUIZ STARTED

SUSANVILLE. (AP)—Two men, believed to be sleeping in a stalled automobile, were found to be dead after the machine had been towed several miles to a Susanville garage.

Traffic Officer Ed Padilla reported he had talked to the stranded motorists near the Fredonia summit early Sunday and that they had asked him to send them a tow car.

A car was sent out and the driver, believing the two—Ed Mendoza and John R. Cachero, both Filipino nationals—to be sleeping, hauled the machine to Susanville before discovering they were dead.

A coroner reported the two men apparently had backed the car into a log when it became stalled and the exhaust pipe had been plugged by bark from the log. He expressed the opinion the two had kept the engine running to keep themselves warm after sending for the tow car, and been overcome by fumes from the motor.

UNEMPLOYMENT REGISTRATION FIGURES TAKE BIG DROP

FEWER SEEK JOBS AT STATE OFFICE HERE

Data Released Without Comment

Unemployment registrations in Orange county for the month of November, 1937, are 1378 fewer than for a corresponding period in 1936, it was pointed out today by Charles Fallert, head of the State Employment Service in Orange county.

The 1936 total for the month of November was 6207 as compared to 4829 for the month just ended this year, Fallert said. He would not comment on the possible significance of the decrease.

Fallert stated there is no way possible by which his department can obtain the exact figure on all unemployed persons in the county. He added that many persons unemployed fail to appear at his office to register, and pointed out that even in the recent United States unemployment census conducted by the postoffice there will be a certain degree of inaccuracy owing to this fact.

Churches of Christian Scientist

"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text was from the Psalms: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork. There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard."

One of the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon presented these words of Jesus, from Matthew: "And call no man your father upon the earth; for one is your Father, which is in heaven." These words from John's first epistle were also cited: "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God."

The Lesson-Sermon included also these passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good, and pure constitute his ancestry. . . . Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and Life is the law of his being."

Beach Betting Shops Open

No anti-bookie action will be taken by Huntington Beach—at least until after disposition of court test cases in other parts of the county, the beach council said today.

Council refused last night to pass a licensing or prohibitory ordinance, after the matter had been brought up by Councilman A. W. Morehouse.

Council Asks Supervisors For $1500 For Street Work

Allocation of $1500 for the improving of sections of Delhi road, Bristol street and Cypress avenue was asked in a resolution to the board of supervisors submitted by the city council last night.

Mayor Rowland was authorized to sign a WPA application for the removal of a curbing, widening of the north side of the roadway and putting in new curbs and sidewalks on Flower street between Eighth and Washington streets. Deeds for a seven-foot easement on the north side of the street were accepted from 10 property owners.

Application by the Veterans Welfare board for cancellation on four pieces of property was denied by council and the clerk was instructed to inform the board that it is not the policy of the council to grant such.

A resolution was ordered prepared for deeds to 10-foot easements along rights of way in Santiago creek, in the vicinity of Main street, for the purpose of constructing a flood control retaining wall.

Application of Walter and Hazel Bundy for remodeling a residence for special use at 1607 East First street on recommendation of the housing commission, was passed and public hearing set for Dec. 20.

COURT HITS CHURCH HEAD

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charles Kelso, archbishop of the "Spiritual Psychic Science church," was under order today to appear in superior court Dec. 17 to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

The citation was issued after Deputy State Attorney General James Howie asserted Kelso, who was ordered to wind up his church's affairs last August after the superior court revoked the church's charter, had resumed operations.

Superior Court Judge Thomas Gould, in revoking the charter, characterized Kelso's operations as a "religious racket" after hearing testimony that he sold minor ordinations for various prices in "over the counter" fashion.

War Vets in Fight for Peace

Santa Ana veterans of foreign wars today took the first step in a campaign for peace.

Members of the Ernest L. Kellogg post of VFW launched an organized campaign to obtain signatures of a majority of Santa Ana citizens on petitions calling on congress to keep the country out of war.

The local drive is being undertaken as part of a nation-wide drive conducted by 3600 units of VFW, Commander James Sullivan said.

First signers of the petitions will be Gold Star mothers of the city, Sullivan said. The blanks will be circulated by post members and by other local civic, patriotic, religious and fraternal organizations.

U. S. Author Is Menaced in Paris

VERSAILLES, France (AP)—The Surete Nationale and Versailles police are investigating a threatening letter sent to Warrington Dawson, invalid American author and diplomat, it was learned today.

The note, slipped under a door at Dawson's home two weeks ago, said he would suffer "violent consequences" unless his secretary appeared at a rendezvous with a large sum of money.

Dawson has been partially paralyzed for the past 20 years. He was at one time a foreign newspaper correspondent and later served for many years in the American embassy in Paris.

FEDERAL AID PROMISED BEAN MEN

The federal government today designed to assist Southern California bean growers, faced with an unprecedented surplus.

The program was outlined at a meeting between representatives of growers, the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation and national food stores at Washington, attended by Secretary R. D. Flaherty of the Orange County Farm bureau, and Vernon Heil of the Lima Bean Growers' association.

Heil was returning to Santa Ana today, while Flaherty continued on to Washington, D. C., where possibilities of new marketing agreements and federal legislation were to be discussed.

The aid program will get under way in about two weeks with appointment of committees from producing counties, through which the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation will carry on purchasing activities of surplus, for distribution to relief agencies.

Jan. 17, 1938, was set as date for start of a national sales campaign to be carried on during the winter and early spring months. Provision also was made at the conference for setting up a permanent committee of representatives from the different states affected to continue study and analysis of edible dry bean production and marketing problems, including the matter of uniform grades, desirability of new marketing agreement and new legislation.

Local marketing companies said prices this year in the lima bean field were actually below cost of production, with sales being practically negligible.

R. G. Edwards and R. L. Church of Oxnard, officers of the California Lima Bean Growers' association, also attended the meeting as representatives of the Southern California branch of the industry.

Request of C. P. Wright, 1420 North Olive street, for adequate lighting at Fifteenth and Olive street was referred to street commission with power to act.

The sum of $231.77 was received by the city as a franchise tax from the Pacific Electric railroad. Two taxi applications were granted. Monthly reports of city officers were referred to city boards.

Temporary appointment of Herman F. Stahl and Thomas J. Finney as new police patrolmen was made.

Request was denied for a street light in the neighborhood of 1011 West Highland street. The radio interference ordinance, which transfers the control of radio interference from the electrical to the police department, was passed.

Hi-Y Burlesques Big Radio Acts

With a program burlesquing big-time radio performances, the Hi-Y club at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The program opened with a dinner, after which "Amateur Night" was announced. Don Mozely, as Graham Mackerel, was the announcer of a program sponsored by the "Druid" Motor company.

Presenting their 1933 "American Lemon" model, Robert Scott as "Colonel Blows" presented his company of amateurs, who were greeted with thunderous applause and with appropriate claps of the gong. His program included "Imitations" by Ben Steffens, "State Jokers" by Edward Budd; operatic solo, "The Death of a Tramp," by David Geddes; lyric solo, "Working on the Railroad," by John Geddes; drum solo, by Jack Clark; piano solo, by Tom Engelman. Introduction and performance by the Hi-Y club, directed by J. C. (the club's advisor) and teacher in the high school.

Final plans were discussed for the high school food drive, which the two Hi-Y groups and the Girl Reserves are sponsoring just before Christmas.

The Hi-Y clubs will be represented by Edward Budd and Robert Scott at the Older Boys' conference at Anaheim on Saturday and Sunday.

L. A. Judge to Talk at Welfare

Judge Clarence R. Routh of Los Angeles will be featured speaker at tonight's general welfare assembly, slated for 7:30 p. m. at the American Legion hall.

H. F. Kenny, secretary of the general welfare Legion, in announcing plans for the meeting, said:

"Judge Routh has been a Townsend plan speaker for several years, and has been in great demand for large mass meetings. He is now throwing his support exclusively behind the General Welfare act, H. R. 4199, and will give his reasons for doing so at tonight's assembly."

Vladimir Lenski, violinist, and the Hurd-Lentz orchestra will be featured in entertainment. Mrs. Mae Geeting will give several readings.

Council Acts On Sales Law

Ordinances on roving stores and closing out sales came to the attention of the city council again last night.

Action to place a license fee on stores on wheels was deferred. The closing out sale ordinance, however, received its first reading. It provides that any merchant announcing he intends to quit business will be given 30 days in which to do so. After the expiration of this period the city will place an assessment of $100 a month on his business until the store is actually closed out.

CHURCH DINNER

Estell Daniel society members from the First Presbyterian church will meet in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 6 p. m. Wednesday for a covered dish dinner instead of at the Y. M. C. A. as formerly announced. Each mystery mother is requested to bring a covered dish and table service for two.

Man Can Succeed Alone

By DALE CARNEGIE

Most people stop short of success because they believe that one can do nothing single-handed.

When Daniel Boone conquered the West, he had companions, it is true, but it was his enthusiasm which spurred the men on. Robert

Fun did not have every piece of timber nor drive every peg for the first steamboat, but if he had not been DALE CARNEGIE there, the world would have waited much longer to learn of the "Clermont" steaming down the Hudson.

Florence Nightingale thought that wounded soldiers should be nursed by women—a most shocking idea at the time. She was opposed, laughed at, even scorned.

Long after she began her work the very men she was trying to help put every conceivable obstacle in her way. But she allowed nothing to turn her aside, and finally established a staff of women nursing in the Crimea.

Clara Barton believed in working for humanity, so back there in a little Massachusetts town she started, single-handed, the movement for the American Red Cross which is today for aid in every major catastrophe.

Even the most humble individual can, alone and unaided, at least start a great movement, a mighty institution. The famous

Beethoven used a walk in the country and a thunder storm as themes for one of his great symphonies. Offhand, these appear very simple topics, but to a master like Beethoven, Nature, the simplest of all subjects, is at the same time the most powerful and the most inspiring.

CITY WAVERS ON TURF BET AGENCIES

Tuskegee Institute for the advancement of the negro race was started by one man—Booker T. Washington, born in slavery.

In the face of all the facts before us, it's foolish to say "What can one man do?"

I've never felt sorry for anyone, man or woman, for having to earn a living. I do look with inestimable pity, however, on anyone who has no enthusiasm for the work he is doing. To me, it is a great tragedy if one does not find early in life the kind of work he likes to do that he may apply in full force all the enthusiasm of youth.

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, says: "A man can succeed in anything for which he has real enthusiasm."

Elbert Hubbard had his idea about success, too. He said: "Enthusiasm is like having two right hands."

If I had a son, I would, almost from the day of his birth, try to steer him toward the work he liked, and instill in him enthusiasm for his task. Succeeding in this, I should need to give little further thought to his success.

Beethoven used a walk in the country and a thunder storm as themes for one of his great symphonies. Offhand, these appear very simple topics, but to a master like Beethoven, Nature, the simplest of all subjects, is at the same time the most powerful and the most inspiring.

DRIVER HELD FOR HIT-RUN

George William Guenther, 45-year-old Santa Ana insurance salesman, was held to answer to the superior court yesterday on charges of hit-run driving growing out of a collision in which Ray Emerson, 20, was seriously injured more than a week ago.

Bail was reduced to $500 in a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison yesterday. J. B. West, local attorney, represented Guenther at the hearing.

Hi-Y Boys Plan For Winter Camp

Plans for the mid-winter camp at Oseola, the Orange county Y. M. C. A. camp in the San Bernardino mountains, are nearing completion under the guidance of a special committee made up of Robert Scott, Edward Budd and John Henderson, with Boys' Secretary Herbert Thomas as advisor.

This is to be a three-day camp for Hi-Y boys, on Dec. 27, 28 and 29.

Oseola is to be in use for several days this month, the boys of Fullerton Y. M. C. A. opening it for a period, followed by Santa Ana, and then by the Orange-Anaheim groups. The cost for the Santa Ana group will be about $2 per boy, and reservations should be made at once to Herbert Thomas at the Y. M. C. A.

Unitarian Educator Here

Ernest W. Kuebler, director of the department of religious education of the American Unitarian association, will visit Santa Ana tomorrow during an extended tour of the west.

Kuebler is assisting in organization and continuation of Unitarian church schools throughout the western part of the country by personal contact with religious educators, the Rev. Julia Budlong of the local church said.

While here the director will be guest reviewer at the monthly book-review tea of the Unitarian church, discussing George Coe's "Character and Christian Education." The public is invited. The review will be given at 3 p. m., and tea will be served at 4 p. m.

"Toastmaster" Magazine Out

The December copy of "The Toastmaster," official publication of the Toastmasters club, is being circulated today to members of the local organization.

Ralph C. Smedley, secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., is a member of the editorial board for the publication and is also the international secretary of the club. Outstanding articles in the current issue of the publication include one by J. Edgar Hoover of the department of justice.

DR. EAMES IS DEATH VICTIM

NEW YORK (AP)—A man whose formal education never carried him beyond grammar school died yesterday, the holder of degrees from three universities and known throughout the world for his scholarly achievements.

He was Dr. Wilberforce Eames, 82, chief bibliographer of the New York public library.

Dr. Eames lived in a house so crammed with books that concrete props were necessary to keep the floors from collapse. His research among dusty tomes unearthed so many valuable historical facts that he won the nickname of "the Sherlock Holmes of literary detectives." He was an authority on languages of the North American Indians, and could read Japanese and Chinese and many of the Bantu dialects of Africa.

At this knowledge traced back to the day when, a 12-year-old boy, he borrowed six volumes of Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Impressed by the hundreds of references, he copied every title and set out to read them. Each book led to others until his knowledge earned him the tribute of Dr. Harry Miller Lydenberg, director of the New York public library.

Brown, Harvard and Michigan conferred honorary degrees upon him.

He was discovered lying in the rear of the Palace pool hall at 8 p. m. last night.

Police at first reported he had "fallen down and cut himself," but a physician's examination revealed the fracture.

Carry Alabama's Rose Bowl Hopes Against California

These young men will come west to uphold a Crimson Tide record of no defeats and no ties against California's undefeated Golden Bears on New Year's day. At the left is Joe Kilgore, brilliant halfback and sparkplug of the Alabama team; center is Coach Frank Thomas; and right is Capt. LeRoy Monsky, one of the nation's outstanding guards. In four previous trips to the Rose Bowl, 'Bama has won three games and tied one.

ODDS AND ENDS
By PAUL WRIGHT

Two of our four Dons who gained Eastern J. C. conference recognition, Guard Joe Crawford and Halfback Mac Beall, are products of Santa Ana High school. The other first-string selections, John Joseph at end and Russell (Rusty) Roquet at tackle, hail from Lincoln (Los Angeles) and Anaheim High schools, respectively. Joseph captained his prep club last fall, and is being mentioned prominently as the '38 leader of the Dons. With Ted DeVellis of Anaheim remaining over with Joseph, Santa Ana will start the new season with one of the sweetest end combinations in the conference.

With the sensational Francis brothers—Sammy and Paul—lost through graduation, basketball fans hardly expect Coach Bill Cole to develop another Southern California prep championship outfit at Tustin.

This does not mean, however, that Tustin will be a push-over in the Orange League. The Tillers have retained three regulars from that brilliant '37 combination—Walt and Vic Linker and Larry Monroy—who have formed a splendid '38 nucleus for Cole. Mildard Foster and Perry Cooper, two hold-over reserves, also show promise.

The all-Southern California board of football, comprised exclusively of Los Angeles and Hollywood sports writers, is seeking help in picking an all-star team to be announced Dec. 21.

High recommendations have been received for two Santa Ana gridders—the Saints' smashing 195-pound fullback, Bill Musick; and the Dons' 210-pound dynamic tackle, Russell (Red) Roquet.

BRUINS LAUNCH INVESTIGATION

LOS ANGELES. (P)—Three Bruin alumni were named today as part of a committee to "intelligently investigate the football situation" at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Fred M. Jordan, president of the U. C. L. A. Alumni association, said the committee would attempt to "stop once and for all this barrage of open letters and rumors." "In a conference as keenly competitive as that on the Pacific coast," he added, "no football team and no coaching staff can hope for even a moderate amount of success without the undivided support of those most directly interested. Lack of such united support has been a defect of the Bruin season just closed."

Pointing out that the committee would have "neither the desire nor the authority to fire a single individual," Jordan promised its sessions would be open to constructive suggestions.

It will comprise six members, including Walter Stickel, varsity end in 1930-31-32; Ned Marr, 1927 student body president; and Jerold E. Weil, 1923 student body president.

Nominate 93 for Santa Anita 'Cap

RECORD FIELD PREDICTED FOR CLASSIC

LOS ANGELES. (P)—Proclaiming the group the greatest array of horseflesh ever assembled at a race track, the Los Angeles Turf club announced today that 93 thoroughbreds had been nominated for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Names famous in the turf world—War Admiral, Seabiscuit, Pompoon, Heffly, Rosemont, Top Row, White Cockade, Sceneshifter, and a host of others—were in the list.

All but three of the top flight candidates are already on the grounds or are en route west. The top War Admiral, Seabiscuit, and White Cockade may or may not participate in the 1937-38 Santa Anita meeting, which starts on Christmas day.

The handicap date is March 5. The 93 nominees outnumber the record 88 of last year, and Santa Anita officials, with General Manager Charles H. Strub as spokesman, predicted the actual starters would prove better and probably larger than the field of 18 that went to the post in the last running of the rich mile and one-quarter race.

Track heads still hope that Samuel Riddle will ship War Admiral out. Riddle said in Philadelphia last week that he was undecided whether the Admiral would race in Florida or here.

A splash of international color was promised in the handicap with the nomination of 18 crack horses bred abroad, including La Bambino, the French colt; Amor Bruno, and Cascabelito from the Argentine; Scabbard from England; and Sahri II, the Chilean invader.

Other leading candidates nominated with their owners, were: C. C. Taylor's Special Agent, E. E. Fogelson's Grey Court, Maxwell Howard's The Chief and Fencing, Arnold Hanger's He Did, Valinda Farms' Eagle Pass, Alfred Vanderbilt's Tedious, Raoul Walsh's Grand Manitou, C. S. Howard's Chanceview, stable mate of Seabiscuit; Bing Crosby's former buy, Ligarto, and two others, William Le Baron's Brown Jade and Ral Parr's Legal Light.

Weights for the race, ranging from 100 to 130 pounds, will be posted by Secretary Webb Everett Dec. 5.

Nominations for the big derby will be announced next week.

CLEVELAND. (P)—Dusky Henry Armstrong, world's champion featherweight, surveyed today an 11-round non-championship bout.

Ambers, 138, flashed a lightning left and effective right uppercut to take a 10-round decision from Frankie Wallace, 138, Cleveland.

The devastating little victors expect to clash in an outdoor show next summer with Ambers' crown at stake.

Valencia, Brea and Fullerton Elevens Will Dine Tonight

Players of Valencia, Fullerton and Brea - Olinda High schools will be honored at three separate football banquets tonight.

James Alonso Stagg, "grand old man of football," who coaches at College of the Pacific, will speak at a 6:30 banquet in the Brea cafeteria.

A. J. (Bill) Cook, coach of Santa Ana's Dons, will address the Valencia gridders in the American Legion hall in Placentia in another 6:30 dinner.

Cook also will speak in Escondido at noon today.

Fullerton will hold a 6:30 banquet in the cafeteria of its school.

N. L. PREFERS DEAD BALL

CHICAGO. (P)—Stymied at almost every bid on the duelist play-mart in memory of the oldest ivory hunters, big league club-owners today haggled over an old, favorite subject—lively baseball.

Over in the National league, everyone seemed agreed that a dead ball was necessary for the 1938 season, but in the American, where long distance hitters grow like mushrooms and pop much louder, there was a big battle over the question. Led by the Yankees, the lively ball game was fighting a hard fight and it looked as if it might win its point.

Thus, there was every indication that the two leagues would use different calibers of horsehides next season—the Nationals a dead one and the Americans the same old lively spheroid.

So intense was the baseball dispute in the American league meeting yesterday the clinic lasted almost five hours—a record sitting. Nothing official was learned but by grapevine information came reports that the Yankees argued so long and fervently for the old ball that they won the majority over.

However, a tour of inspection was held of a ball making laboratory last night where the argument continued until the wee hours of the morning.

The Nationals re-elected Ford Frick as president for a three-year term at a good boost in salary, now estimated to be $27,500 annually.

Shaw yesterday showed his players slow motion pictures of last year's 20-to-1 triumph over the L. S. U. Tigers, pointing out faults as the play progressed.

"Notice they were dangerous at all times," he pointed out, "and if we didn't throw a few good passes ourselves they might have beaten us."

In addition to their debate over the ball, the American league voted to open its 1938 season April 19 and to close it, 2-4 days later.

Other bouts are set, and voted down Sunday double-header until the home team has played three Sabbath games.

LA DUE SEEKING NEW REFEREE

Protesting against the assignment of Col. Ted Hopkins as referee for their return bout Thursday night, Monty La Due, the French Apache today was on record that he wouldn't wrestle if Hopkins was given the call.

La Due meets "Wild Red" Berry, former champion of the lightweight-heavyweight division, in a three fall to a finish rematch at the Orange County Athletic club, Berry won last week when Hopkins broke the Frenchman's "Apache flip," a hold with which La Due already had scored a fall.

All abouts on the coming card are to a finish with three new grapplers making their appearance. Carlos Rodriguez meets the Black Panther in a three fall match. Other bouts are set.

DON QUINTET VS. BANKERS AT TUSTIN

Santa Ana Junior college's best basketball quintet since 1933 goes to the post at 8 o'clock tonight, attempting to get back on the winning trail against the strong Los Angeles Bank of America club in Tustin High school's gymnasium.

There will be a 25-cent admission charge.

Coach Blanchard Beatty's cagers opened the season with two victories, but have been defeated in their past three starts.

Seven Dons have taken over the varsity nominations. Charles Hall and Harold (Chuck) Barrett have turned into a fine sharpshooting duo at the forward posts, while six-foot-six Joe Leivermann has been carrying on at center where he has used his tremendous height to guard the hoop.

Kenneth Marshall and Del Holan have clinched first-string guard berths. Capt. Don Randall and Verne Rutledge will be early starters for Beatty's cagers.

Several former college players and Los Angeles high school cagers comprise the visiting club. Wayne Mix and Francis Smith are both rated first-rate players.

Frank Penney, Harker Weaver and Bill Ballard will probably fill out the bankers' lineup. John Mortara, Bob Swift, Charles Bailey and Dick Watkins also will see action against Beatty's crew.

Don Rader, George Young and Ernie Barrett vie for the starting assignment for the Dons.

SHAW REJOINS BRONCO SQUAD

SANTA CLARA. (P)—Recovered from an attack of influenza but still a bit shaky, Coach Lawrence (Buck) Shaw drilled his Santa Clara football players on pass defense today for their New Year's game with Louisiana State in the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl.

Shaw yesterday showed his players slow motion pictures of last year's 20-to-1 triumph over the L. S. U. Tigers, pointing out faults as the play progressed.

"Notice they were dangerous at all times," he pointed out, "and if we didn't throw a few good passes ourselves they might have beaten us."

Florida's novel system of having football players sit in dugouts just like baseballers isn't going over so well with the visitors. In an exciting moment of the Georgia Tech game, two subs leaped, cracked their heads against the concrete top and all but knocked themselves out. Every account we've read of the Joe McCarthy-Bill Terry word war in Chicago has been different. Perhaps the right one is that advanced by one New York scribe, who cracked: "Terry must have thought McCarthy was a baseball writer."

Stanford Five Scores, 60-51

PALO ALTO. (P)—Stanford's basketball team, victorious in its season-opener with the San Francisco Olympic club, meets San Jose State college at San Jose tonight.

Led by high-scoring Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, the Indians defeated the Olympic club, 60 to 51, here last night. Luisetti scored 24 points.

Slight Increase Shown In College Football Crowds

NEW YORK. (P)—Despite an almost unprecedented siege of bad weather and the effects of a business recession, college football moved along on slightly higher levels for attendance and receipts during the 1937 campaign.

The survey, based on home game attendance only, revealed that 7,744,803 fans witnessed the 387 home games of 75 representative schools. This compared with 1936 figure of 7,613,768 for 397 games. Average attendance per game this year was 20,010 compared with 19,173 a year ago.

The Southwest and South led all the rest in percentage of increase, roughly 16 per cent in each case. The Rocky mountain sector followed with 14 per cent, the Midwest with 6 per cent, the far West with 5 per cent and the East with 1 per cent.

The weather, especially in the East, undoubtedly was a major factor in reducing the gain for the country as a whole. The Atlantic seaboard, for instance, suffered severely.

Pitt's receipts and attendance both were well ahead of last year, although the Panthers will miss the chunk of cash they snared in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena a year ago. Vanderbilt reported receipts at the highest level in several years. Alabama, which is to play California in the Rose Bowl game, reported a falling off in home game attendance, mainly because of a less favorable schedule, but an increase of about 30 per cent when all games, at home and on the road, are included.

SPORTS Roundup

—By BRIETZ EDDIE

NEW YORK. (P)—Note to Van Mungo, Pageland, S. C.: Looks like you're stuck in Brooklyn another summer. But, unless you want to stay down there and plow. . . . How're crops? . . . It was worth exactly 1000 potatoes to Max Baer when Mrs. B. presented him a bouncing baby boy. . . . Jack Dempsey had bet the new arrival would be a title fight. . . . The New York Giants swear if they would match up Cliff Battles and War Admiral, they'd bet on Cliff. . . . Out at Chicago Burelligh Grimes plumb forgot Bill McKechnie had gone to Cincinnati, and asked him if he wanted to swap Lopez.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, at 68, has become a red-hot football fan. . . . In a pro game at Washington the other week the safety man was playing deep. . . . "Looky here," Marshall Redskin owner, "ain't your center fielder pretty far back?" . . . More than one Western school is making goo-goo eyes at Frank Peterson, quarterback on Reno's undefeated high school team, who scored 18 touchdowns in nine games and completed 19 of 30 passes for seven more touchdowns.

Babe Didrikson allows as how she must be psychic. . . . At a party in Shreveport she was able to call the given name of the mother of every one in the room. . . . Babe says she doesn't use her powers often because it gives her the headache. . . . Some of the meanies are saying it wasn't flu that sent Travis Jackson to bed in Chicago but the news that Babe Herman had been wished on his ball club.

Max Schmeling will be fighting his 13th fight in this country on Dec. 13, when he takes on Harry Thomas next Monday night.

First football post-season casualty was reported today. . . . After escaping the rigors of the season, Bernie Bloom, New York U. backfield star, slipped and broke an arm while carrying a load of books. . . . Red Gungino, Hartford lightweight, wants to know why his once fiery locks have turned entirely black since he came up from Tampa a few years ago. . . . Incidentally, the correct way to pronounce that name is Gu-gee-no. . . . Jimmy Braddock has started training for whatever may bob up, and it may be Miami in February.

DONS, INDIANS EASTERN CO-CHAMPIONS

There will be no playoff for the Southern California Junior college football championship.

By a vote of 15 to 4, officials decided to cancel the game "because of the muddled affairs of both the Eastern and Western divisions." The decision was reached at Fullerton yesterday.

Santa Ana's Dons and San Bernardino's Indians, who battled to a pair of furious 7-7 and 6-6 draws on the regular schedule, were declared co-champions of the Eastern conference.

The Dons and Indians are so equal in strength that it would be unfair, officials maintained, to choose between them.

Picking a representative from the Western conference would prove an even more difficult task, what with Los Angeles, Ventura and Compton all laying claim to the title.

Director D. K. Hammond and Dean Calvin Flint, representing Santa Ana, offered to replay San Bernardino, but the inlanders declined.

Since post-season games are banned by the Eastern conference, Coach Bill Cook said today his Dons would turn in their suits, but "as far as I'm concerned, we're still Southern California champions."

Methodists, Treesweet Cop Thrillers

In a hair-raising finish when never more than three or four points separated the two teams during the game, Treesweet Products basketball quintet took a one-point decision over the Church of the Brethren five, 30-29, last night.

The M. E. South club hung up a 34-28 win over the Southern Counties Gas company five in the open play. The Y. M. C. A. basketball league double-header.

The favored Treesweet team was held even at half time, 16-16. Forward Rhoden took over the scoring load with 19 points for Treesweet when his teammates failed to hit the hoop.

M. E. South had an 18-15 advantage at half-time. Horace Ritter led with 11 points.

18 NOMINATED AT TANFORAN

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Julius G. Reeder, racing secretary at Tanforan, said today 18 horses had been nominated for the $2500-added Half-Moon mile handicap next Saturday, including the South American mystery horse, Amor Brujo.

The South American probably will go to the post with the top weight impost. He will be coupled with Sargazo, another invader from below the equator. Charles S. Howard did not nominate Sargazo, but will depend on Fair Knights' Chanceview, Advocate and Exhibit.

Others asking weights were Gleeman, Rockwood, King Saxon, Count Atlas, Sabueso, Tick On, High Vote, Marynell, Your Honor and Rommy.

California Booked On Georgia Tech Schedule for '38

ATLANTA, Ga. (P)—Georgia Tech's 1938 football schedule includes a game with the University of California at Berkeley, Dec. 25. Tech officials said the game would be called off if California should again win the Rose Bowl bid. Georgia Tech was to have played the Bears this year, but under a contract agreement the game was postponed when the Bears were called to the Rose Bowl.

PRISON WORK MAY START AT CHINO

State May Sue For Penitentiary Land

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Construction of a rehabilitation prison at Chino can be started within two or three weeks and a unit completed within about 10 months, if the attorney general renders a favorable opinion, Edward L. Abbott, prison board member, said today.

Site for the institution is in litigation. The state can take possession of the property under bond providing the law enables the building committee of the state prison board to file condemnation proceedings in the name of the people, Abbott said. The attorney general has been asked for a ruling and if he holds the committee has this prerogative, no time will be lost in getting work started.

The first unit, a cell block and some administrative buildings, would take care of about 900 prisoners who would be transferred there from San Quentin and Folsom.

Only prisoners for whom there are hopes of reformation would be housed there.

Under a resolution adopted by the prison board a short time ago, when the prison is completed, Warden Clyde I. Plummer is to be transferred from Folsom and Captain W. J. Ryan will be named to succeed Plummer.

Abbott said today he is confident the board will abide by its pledge to Ryan and he feels there is no question but what the latter will get the job.

The Santa Barbara board member said as to Plummer's recently-announced ideas on the running of a prison, including music for entertainments and with convicts' meals, and carrying of a revolver by the warden while on duty:

"I have no official comment to make.

"Personally," he said, "I think some good might come of having music while the convicts eat. It has been done elsewhere."

Change Made in Tax Collection

All persons employing help in Orange county will be glad to learn that Social Security monthly tax returns known as "SS-1" will after the first of the year be discontinued and the returns reports will be required quarterly instead, according to Joe Peterson Internal Revenue collector for this region.

The first returns for the period of Jan. 1 through March 31, 1938, must be in the collector's office by April 30, 1938, according to the new ruling. Hundreds of employers in Orange county will welcome the new rule, as during the past they have had to render returns twelve times during the year; now it will be only on four occasions annually.

Father Meehan To Lecture on Lourdes

An illustrated lecture on Lourdes, the city of miracles, will be presented by the Rev. Father John Meehan, newly-appointed pastor of St. Anne's Catholic church, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the church.

The public is cordially invited by the Rev. Father Meehan, who has visited the famous city of France. A special lecture for children on the same subject will be given Thursday at the same hour.

HIPS AND BUSTS FADE SLOWLY AS MODELS DIET AND DRILL FOR 1938

What was good for 1937 . . .

It won't be the "Perfect 36" in '38. Next year's glamour girl will measure the same around the hips and the bust—34. And her waist must measure 10 inches less!

These are the specifications of James Dowd, jr., director of Models Preferred, New York school in which girls are groomed for professional fashion and beauty work.

SHE SHOULD BE TALL

Furthermore, says Mr. Dowd, Miss 1938 should be at least five feet, seven inches tall—in her stocking feet. Five feet, nine would be even better.

Dowd, aided by his wife, who is the school's fashion counsel, picks potential beauties not only by height and figure. Character, personality and facial structure enter.

The best faces, say the Dowds, have high cheekbones, eyes fairly far apart, noses short and fairly small.

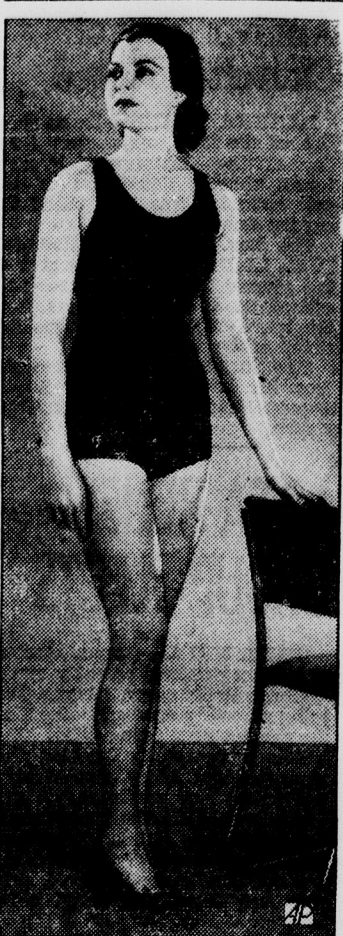

High cheekbones often are accompanied by large jaws, but those may be disguised by careful rouging or powdering the jaws a shade darker than the rest of the face.

SIX LONG WEEKS

Eyes can be made to appear farther apart by plucking the brows in the middle and lengthening their line at the ends. Bringing the rouge in close will minimize a broad nose.

Two of the hardest phases of training models are prescribing and enforcing—exercises and diets for hips and bust.

Posture, carriage and make-up the school drills on, every day for the six-week course.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

The news which this column will convey tonight will doubtless bring sorrow and dismay to the members of the General Welfare Legion clubs. Sensing what their feelings will be the writer's memory brought back to him the words of the kings of the earth, who lamented with words the fall of Babylon, saying: "Alas, alas that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is thy judgment come."

The news came to this column through Captain Russell R. Hand, national representative of Dr. Townsend and supervisor of the Townsend movement in the eleven Southern California congressional districts. He handed to the writer a letter addressed to Capt. Hand from Avery C. Moore, 1926 Woolsey street, Berkeley, California. Mr. Moore is president of the General Welfare Association of California, Incorporated. The letter gave Mr. Hand permission to use in whole or in part another letter dated Dec. 2, 1937 and addressed "To The Members of The General Welfare Association of California, Inc." which had been enclosed with the personal letter to Captain Hand. It is the contents of this letter to the General Welfare members which in part this column now quotes which will doubtless bring joy to the Townsendites and sorrow to the others. A portion of the letter follows:

Remember the letter is by Avery C. Moore, president of the General Welfare association of California and is addressed to the membership of his own association. He says: "The General Welfare Federation of America in Washington, D. C., and the General Welfare association of California should in my judgment cease to function along the lines of the movement founded and headed by Dr. Francis E. Townsend. The Townsend movement will be retarded rather than advanced if two organizations using the same methods work parallel but competitively in the same territory among the old people."

The letter further states: "The Washington Legislative bureau, both seeking to promote the Townsend plan's progress in Congress would inevitably cause confusion and arouse resentment among public officials whose support must be won if the General Welfare Act is to become law."

"The argument that any man has a better right to the leadership of the Townsend movement than has Dr. Townsend cannot be supported honestly nor can it be sustained with logic." This column has repeatedly expressed the same fact as Mr. Moore states in this last sentence. More of the letter follows and shows conclusively that disintegration has actually taken place in the General Welfare movement and that the California association president has run up the flag of surrender to the Townsend organization. It also shows that in California at least the possibility of formulating an organization of large proportions competitive to the Townsend one no longer threatens. The conclusion is reached.

ing paragraph of Mr. Moore's letter follows. It says:

"All General Welfare clubs and 'centers' now functioning in California are urgently requested to cease operating as such. It is recommended that these groups resolve themselves into Townsend clubs, and apply to the Townsend national organization for charters, or that their members affiliate and work with the existing Townsend clubs in their respective districts."

(Signed) Avery C. Moore, Pres. Gen. Welfare Assn. of Calif.

This means that if the General Welfare association president's advice is followed that many of the Townsendites who went with the General Welfare movement will be coming back to align themselves as workers in the Townsend clubs to help put over the Townsend plan bill now before the Congress. This column has consistently fought to prevent the General Welfare Legion as the movement is called in the 19th district from weakening or destroying the Townsend organization but the writer has never had any personal animosity toward the members of the General Welfare clubs. In the interest of Townsend cause advancement he now favors welcoming back into the Townsend organization such members of the General Welfare clubs as will apply for such privilege as will agree to take the Townsend pledge of loyalty to the doctor and his co-workers and really mean it. No good can come of holding grudges or in glorying to much in the discomfiture of our former brothers in the Townsend cause work. Naturally and justly the Townsendites will rejoice because the enemy which came from within our own ranks has been nicely chastised and humbled and the assurance made more complete that the Townsendites if they stick together can win any battle which they undertake.

Don't forget that Santa Ana clubs Nos. 5, 6 and 8 will meet at 7:30 tonight in their usual meeting places for business sessions. Anaheim club also meets at the same hour at 210 South Clementine street. Another important thing is the oyster supper in the Oceanview schoolhouse as announced last night in this column will take place at 6:30 tonight.

HOLLY CO. WINS TAX SUIT

The Holly Development company of Huntington Beach and its president, S. W. Sinsheimer of Denver, were winners today in a 12-year-old $100,000 income tax case.

The U. S. circuit court of appeals in San Francisco, The Associated Press reported, reversed a decision of the board of tax appeals, which had held in 1936 that there were deficiencies in the company taxes, $23,515 for 1923, $216 for 1924 and $76,235 in 1925.

The dispute arose out of involved transactions. Sinsheimer, a Denver capitalist, bought Orange county oil leases from the Argonaut oil company. He used these holdings to buy a majority of stock in the Holly company. The Holly company claimed that Argonaut retained a clear interest in the oil proceeds, however, and the court held this to be a deciding factor.

The tax was assessed on payments by Argonaut to the Holly company, repaying loans which were part of the original deal. The Argonaut money used to pay the loans, however, actually came from proceeds of Holly oil holdings. The court upheld the company's claim that these sums should have been excluded from net income on the tax returns.

Mother Pleads with Army To Release Son from Prison

La Habra Pastor Called by Death

George Koenig, retired minister and resident of Orange county for 23 years, died at his home in La Habra yesterday afternoon after a short illness.

Born in Baltimore, Mr. Koenig was a graduate of Berea, O., college. He was a pastor of the German Methodist Episcopal church, and had charge of churches in Missouri, Iowa, Arizona and Illinois.

He retired because of ill health in 1914 and moved to California the same year, making his home in La Habra since that time. Funeral services will be conducted from the C. W. Coffey Funeral chapel, Orange, at 10 a. m. Thursday. The Rev. J. F. Sorenson, pastor of the El Modena Friends church, will officiate.

Mr. Koenig is survived by three sons, Graham Koenig of Madera, Sillmore Koenig of Atwood, and Elmer Koenig of Orange; two daughters, Mrs. Lynn Robb of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. R. C. Camblin of Davenport, Ia.; six grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Chess is the most cosmopolitan of all games. Invented in the Orient, it is played throughout the world.

San Francisco (AP)—Army authorities at the San Francisco Presidio today considered the plea of a mother who said her son had left his regiment without leave to search the country for her.

The soldier, 20-year-old Private Paul Crawley of Battery E, sixth coast artillery, was in the Presidio guardhouse. He surrendered recently after being absent without leave for several months.

The mother, Mrs. Henry L. Rosenfeld, jr., of New York, told army authorities she is the daughter of a family which fled Russia when the Soviets seized control and that she was formerly in the movies in Hollywood under the name of Thais Valdemar.

Young Crawley, the account given by Presidio officers said, heard after his enlistment last year that his mother, from whom he had been separated by a family estrangement since he was a child, was in Hollywood.

He went there in search of her, discovered she had married and then followed her to New York but was unable to learn her married name. Discouraged and without funds, he returned to San Francisco and gave himself up. His mother, learning meanwhile of inquiries he had made of her, hurried here and located him at the Presidio. Young Crawley and a sister were separated from their mother when they went to live with an aunt in Kern county, Calif., after their father, Paul Crawley, was divorced. The mother is now married to a New York broker.

CIVIL SERVICE SLATE NAMED

Names of seven candidates to the city civil service commission were submitted to the city council for approval last night by the League of Women voters. The councilmen agreed to take up the matter of appointments as the first order of business at the Dec. 20 meeting.

The names recommended by the women voters' league are as follows: Dr. John Mason, James Anderson, Dr. Margaret Baker, Ray Adkinson, Alex Brownridge, G. W. Basset and Carl Young.

Last night was the first meeting since the civil service law went into effect at which the councilmen could appoint a commission. City Attorney L. W. Blodgett informed them. He also advised they could name the persons to fill the positions at a later date.

Names of the prospective candidates submitted by the league were preceded by an explanation they were presented in the spirit of cooperation with the city council, and the persons mentioned were qualified by reason of their "public spirit, business ability and interest in clean city government."

MODERNNESS implies COMFORT

Natural Gas brings greater comfort at lower cost!

Your ease is assured with natural gas service. Here is a fuel that keeps the house healthfully warm throughout the winter—automatically. Whether temperature rises or falls, the gas furnace regulates the amount of heat for uniform temperature.

This same dependable, trouble-free operation is typical of modern gas water-heating, gas cookery and gas refrigeration. You get plenty of hot water instantly—you save time through faster, better cooking—you enjoy the comfort of silent, automatic refrigeration.

And remember, no other practical fuel equals the amazing low cost of gas. For additional economy, use up-to-date gas appliances; they require less fuel. See them in the display rooms of your dealer or gas company.

NEWS OF ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITIES

OIL BOTHERS COUNCIL AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Oil on the untrodden waters of Newport bay bothered the city council here last night.

Council members received a letter from the U. S. engineer's office in Los Angeles setting forth complaints that a boom installed for the purpose of halting flow from an abandoned oil well on the west arm of the bay was not functioning. The well is on the site of the old refinery district, where tar at one time was produced and marketed.

City Engineer R. L. Patterson reported that oil at times bubbles from the water offshore, adding that he believed a bulkhead would not halt the pollution. His assistant, John Seigel, said that pollution has been very slight in the past, with only a "rainbow" of oil noted on the water.

TO INVESTIGATE

Patterson will confer with members of the pollution department of the division of fish and game next week in an effort to discover extent of pollution.

The west arm of the bay came in for further consideration when T. W. Taylor, representing patrons of the Taylor Boat Service, claimed that two fishing barges moored near The Arches might become a menace to property in case of storms. Councilmen will ask Harbor-master Bouchee to check anchorages of both ships and make sure they will not break loose during the winter.

Councilmen were astounded to receive a compliment from a resident of Balboa Island on the $200,000 sea wall and promenade project, completed during the summer, as many complaints have been received on the structure. J. P. Peyton, 316 Grand Canal, complimented the city on the project, pointing to the fact that the huge wall keeps the water from seeping on the island, and is worth the cost to property owners.

SEEK REPAIRS

A group of island property owners requested repairs or replacement of curbs on Pearl avenue between Park avenue and South Bay Front, pointing to the fact that the present improvements are in a state of disrepair. Signing the petition were M. C. Dodd, H. H. Tracy, T. H. Webb and H. D. Andrews.

A request from Paul Johnson and the Elks lodge at Burbank to lease city-owned waterfront property near the Sea Scout camp for mooring boats was denied by the council, which held to its policy of not leasing city land when privately-owned property still was on the market. A request from the harbor 20-30 club for opening of a street crossing between Ninth and Fifteenth streets to safeguard school children was tabled. At present the one-way street causes cars to drive against traffic in the vicinity of the elementary school on Central avenue.

ANNUAL YULE PARTY PLANNED

ORANGE. — A committee was named by President Frank H. Collins of the chamber of commerce Monday to plan for the annual visit of Santa Claus to the Orange Plaza. He named Tom Douglas, C. O. Heim and H. J. Kogler to make arrangements.

Tentative plans point to candy and gift coupons to be distributed to Orange youngsters although nothing definite has yet been decided. The visit will be made a few days before Christmas.

Ballots for election of six new directors also were sent out by the chamber of commerce secretary, V. D. Johnson. Members are asked to vote and return the ballots not later than Thursday, it was announced.

Directors are elected for a period of two years, six retiring each year. The first meeting will be held Monday, with both new and all old directors in attendance. At this time officers for the coming year will be chosen.

MIDWAY YULE PARTY SLATED

MIDWAY CITY. — Members of the Woman's club will hold their annual Christmas party at the clubhouse Thursday afternoon. A one o'clock dessert luncheon and an exchange of gifts with Santa Claus as master of ceremonies will precede the program arranged for the afternoon.

Entertainment features will include a demonstration of gift wrapping by Mrs. Edna Case of Los Angeles; a one-act Christmas play; carols by the boys' glee club of Huntington Beach High school, and an arrangement of Christmas music directed by Mrs. E. L. Hensley.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Wade Enoch, Mrs. Fred Foley, Mrs. Gillett, Mrs. George Garrett, Mrs. Hugh Harrison and Mrs. Robert Hazard.

PARTY HONORS MARIETTA MAAS

ORANGE P.T. A. BAZAR SLATED

ORANGE. — The December meeting of Intermediate P.T. A., scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, will feature both a bazar and Christmas party. Members are asked to donate some article to the P.T. A., it was announced by the president, Mrs. L. A. Bortz.

The executive board of the Intermediate group will donate home-made candy which is to be sold during the noon hour to pupils. Guest speaker on the afternoon's services will be Mrs. Robert B. McCaulay, who will talk on "Self Sacrifice."

Laguna Artist to Paint Missions

LAGUNA BEACH. — Joane Cromwell, gifted artist of Laguna Beach, soon will take the trail first blazed by early Spanish priests to paint some of the 21 California missions. This splendid commission has been given to Miss Cromwell by Muriel Leiberman of Tucson, Ariz. Mrs. Leiberman is a nationally known poet with several published books and is a wealthy patron of art and already owns several Cromwell canvases.

Miss Cromwell will travel in her specially equipped sedan which she recently traded from Edna M. Hatheway, of Laguna Beach, for five large paintings, now hanging in her showrooms.

Miss Cromwell is one of the most prolific artists in Laguna Beach and enjoys the distinction of having her painting output ordered for the next two years.

100 at Laguna Church Bazar

LAGUNA BEACH. — More than 100 persons attended the St. Mary's Episcopal church bazar held at the church Thursday.

Displays of aprons, linens, cooked food, dolls, pottery, white elephant, fish pond, and home-made jams and jellies featured the event. Tea was served from 4 to 5 and dinner, in charge of Mrs. Harry Gordon Martin, from 5:30. The Service league, of which Mrs. Harry Davis is president, assisted in arrangements, and more than $100 was cleared.

Laguna Ebell Members Meet

LAGUNA BEACH. — Laguna Ebell club members met in the home of Mrs. V. P. Carroll, who was hostess at their regular meeting Monday evening. She was assisted by Mesdames Arthur Stead, Lloyd Seilset, Schuyler Bigelow, Thomas Swanson, and Misses Virginia Cunningham, Florence Mireck and Marjorie MacDonald.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Muburn Harvey, club president. Following the program, a dessert course was served.

STATION FOR ORANGE IS ASSURED

ORANGE. — First definite information that Orange would really have a new Santa Fe station was obtained Monday when Building Inspector Frank B. Dale found a letter on his desk requesting a permit to raze the old station warehouse.

When contacted, Station Agent D. P. Goodrich stated that both warehouse and the old station are to be torn down, work on the former building to start the latter part of this week. Construction on the north part of the new station will start as soon as the old structure is torn down, he said, and the station proper will be left until this portion of the new building is completed.

The time required for building the entire project will be approximately six months, it was estimated. Orange chamber of commerce officials hope the work will be finished in time for the 50th anniversary celebration to be held next May 1.

ORANGE LODGE WILL ELECT

ORANGE. — New officers for Orange Grove lodge, F. and A. M., will be chosen tonight in the Masonic temple, it was announced today by Worshipful Master Jack Lampert.

A program will be given by Merle May Weimer, who will give several piano numbers. Dorothy May Eggington, Santa Ana, will play accordion selections, and Miss Frances Hams will give a Spanish ballet. Paul Webb, Santa Ana, will sing.

Following the business meeting a 6:30 o'clock pot-luck supper will be served, and while lodge is in session the women will play bridge.

ORANGE 'Y' BOARD MEETS

ORANGE. — Miss Mary Howard, secretary of the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A., was speaker at the December meeting of the "Y" board Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. rooms in the Franzen building. She was introduced by Mrs. Percy Green, president of the board.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Charles A. Robinson, executive secretary, told of work of the various groups of Girl Reserves, and announced a party to be given for the Mexican children of the Cypress street school by the combined groups of high school Girl Reserves.

Plans were made for the annual membership meeting in February, with Mrs. Fred Bewley to head the program committee. All high school girls and their mothers are invited to attend Christmas services on Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 4 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. building. Mrs. Robinson added, Doris Howell will serve as program chairman of this service.

Exchange Planned At Costa Mesa

COSTA MESA. — Mrs. Carl Schumacher announced today having taken the Santa Ana Spenser building at 1810 1/2 Newport boulevard where she intends to open a women's exchange as soon as the interior decorating can be completed.

Mrs. Schumacher has had considerable experience in the operating of similar exchanges and plans to handle bakery goods, candies, fancy work, home-canned marmalades and jellies and art work.

Grove Guild Goes to S. A.

Police Grin as Officer Loses Handcuff Keys

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Members of the Newport Beach police department aren't exactly laughing at Fellow Officer Jack Summers, but they're chuckling a bit, anyway.

The department has been aroused by a report on file in the police station. It concerns a bunch of keys assertedly lost by Officer Summers. The report points out that handcuff keys were contained in the assortment.

They've been wondering how effective he next handcuff arrest made by the veteran member of the force will be. One member of the force said last night Summers paid $2.50 for new keys. But the old ones are still at large.

Family Reunion Held at M. C.

Anniversary of Church Is Noted

LAGUNA BEACH. — In celebration of the 20th anniversary Sunday of the Community Presbyterian church, dedication of the new entrance was held after the regular services.

The Rev. Cleland B. MacAfee, D. D., LL.D., former moderator of the general assembly and recently retired as co-senior secretary of the board of foreign missions, assisted in the dedication.

The church entrance was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Smith, Laguna Beach and San Juan Capistrano.

MESA RELIEF GROUP ELECTS

COSTA MESA. — Annual election of officers was held recently by the Women's Relief corps, Alvina Ober being named to succeed Daisy Radabaugh as president. Mrs. Ober will be supported by Iva Coe, first vice president and Clara McMurry, junior vice president.

Mrs. Phoebe Mortimer was named chaplain; Ica Clark, treasurer; Pearl Brown, guard; Alice King, conductress; Louise Bechtold, delegate and Clara McMurry, alternate.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas and birthday party to be held Dec. 16 in the social hall of the church. Pearl Brown, Daisy Radabaugh, Iva Coe and Ica Clark will be hostesses. Christmas gifts will be sent to Sawtelle soldiers hospital and to the Clara Barton children's home.

Margaret Dean was initiated as a new member. Present were Daisy Radabaugh, Alice King, Clara Rolins, Margaret Long, Gertrude Collins, Phoebe Mortimer, Louise Bechtold, Alvina Ober, Margaret Dean, Clara McMurry, Ica Clark and Pearl Brown.

S. A. PASTOR IS GROVE SPEAKER

GARDEN GROVE. — The Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah of Santa Ana and Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, district chairman of Federated Women's clubs, were guest speakers at a recent meeting of the Woman's Civic club of Garden Grove.

Mrs. Smith read the Christmas scene from "Shadows on the Rock" by Willa Cather, following with a brief talk on "The True Meaning of Christmas." Both speakers were introduced by program chairman, Mrs. J. G. McCracken.

Announcements included the meeting of the Bible study section at the home of Mrs. P. S. Virgin Jan. 11 and of the Booklover's section meeting Dec. 17 at the home of Mrs. J. H. Kirkham.

Gifts which later will be distributed to needy families were brought for the white tea which followed the session. Mrs. R. L. Stringer and Mrs. A. J. Kelly were tea hostesses. Mrs. T. C. Natland arranged the decorations for the club room.

Laguna Music Lovers Meet

LAGUNA BEACH. — Music Lovers' club members enjoyed an entertaining program Thursday evening at Laguna.

Among selections by Miss Helen Wigg, harpist, and John Furgueson, baritone, were: "Chococo, Durand," "The Good Little King of Yeztrot," (Grandjany); "Lettende," (Zabel), "May Day Carols," (Deems Taylor), "Do Not Go, My Love," (Richard Hatzen), "Travelin' To De Grave," Will Reddick.

The annual election of officers was held with John Furgueson, named president; Mrs. Katherine Bradley, first vice president; Mrs. Katherine Williamson, secretary-treasurer and Miss Margaret Charlet, program chairman.

Party Honors Alan Braybrooks

MIDWAY CITY. — The birthday of Alan Braybrooks was observed Friday afternoon with an after-school party at the home of his parents on Wilson street.

Family Reunion Held at M. C.

MIDWAY CITY. — Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt were hosts at a family party recently, the occasion marking Mrs. Schmidt's birthday anniversary.

Guests included her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Goode, Walter Goode, Harold Goode, William Schmidt, Jr., Mrs. William Schmidt, Jr., William Schmidt, III, and Patricia Schmidt, Corona; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Joss and son, Jack, Ontario and Harry Lee Schmidt.

GROVE SCOUTS GO CAMPING

GARDEN GROVE. — Fire building, tracking and cooking tests were passed by members of Scout troop No. 11 who with their leader, Rodney Collins, camped over the week-end at a special site on the Santa Ana river. Assisting Collins in transporting the boys were Mrs. Leonard Olsen and Zack McIntosh.

The overnight campers included Jimmy Devine, Wayne Lovett, Merle Olsen, Robert and Billy Faires, Zack McIntosh, Jr., Bill Dales, Jack Schumacher, Keigi Higashi, Jimmy Ohashi and Bill Hogganson. Other members of the troop joined them Sunday.

Sunday School Classes Feted

YORBA LINDA. — Mrs. Ruby Kennon and Mrs. Charles Cox were hostesses to their Sunday school classes at the Kennon home on Richfield road Friday evening. Ruth Cox and Arlene Kennon each play piano solos and Mrs. Louise Cox sang "Silent Night." Also present were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Logsdon, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Plumb and sons Albert and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox, Clarence Kennon and Nofie W. Reneker.

"ALIBI GIRL"

Begin here:

Nancy Roland, summoned to police headquarters supposedly to aid in solving the mysterious murder of her husband, Iva Coe, realizes, after hours of questioning, that she is being accused of the crime. "But I was with my cousin Alan Jory, at the time Uncle was murdered Thursday night, July 1," she insists. Captain Wyman, who is in charge of the case, looks at her with a light over it, and a dozen men working in 15 minute shifts, than that."

He waved his hand disdainfully at the machine. "Some cases, though, I'd have two dozen men working in 15 minute shifts. Depends on the suspect. Some of 'em are pretty stubborn. I've seen 'em so stubborn it took three days to break the lies they told—and in that chair, too."

He nodded his head at the chair Nancy had occupied when she was questioned in his office. "Besides your wasting your time on Nancy Roland, Mr. Howard, don't need a lie detector to tell whether she's lying or not. Only need some common sense plus the evidence we already have against her."

CHAPTER TEN

Doctor Gavin McKee, professor at the University of California at Berkeley, boarded the southbound train at 4 o'clock carrying a black case a little larger than a portable typewriter. He kept the case tenderly on his lap all the two hours of the trip, and when he reached Captain Wyman's office at 8 o'clock laid it gently on the desk there.

The big detective looked at it, one eyebrow raised skeptically. He had seen lie detectors before, a good many of them. He had had them demonstrated for the police department time and time again.

He had used them, usually reluctantly, in his work. He was using this one as reluctantly, even if it was brand new and the latest delicate model there was—because he liked Julian Howard, and Howard wanted it used.

He watched McKee take the instrument from its case, and he watched Howard watching McKee intently. He thought they seemed like little boys looking at their first electric train.

"The principle is very simple," McKee was saying, his spectacles sitting crookedly on his nose. "We have found out through experiments, that when a man's blood pressure goes up, so this is a modification and elaboration of registering blood pressure under constant questioning."

"We simply fasten this rubber tube here," he lifted a tube, "to the suspect's left arm in much the same way that a tube is fastened around the arm when blood pressure is taken. The tube is connected with the machine," he tapped the black instrument, "which is really a delicate machine for registering blood pressure, and recording it so that it can be read."

"See this slate here." He looked up at Howard as he brushed his fingers against a small black shiny roll of paper.

Howard nodded. "And this stylus, which is really a pencil?"

Again Howard nodded. The stylus was small and black, about three inches long.

"When the suspect is telling the truth, this stylus will move along this slate evenly, making wavy neat white marks on the slate. The blood pressure will then be normal, even if the suspect is excited."

"When the suspect is lying, the stylus will make jagged uneven white marks on the slate, because when the suspect is lying the blood pressure rises and the machine records the rising by the jagged uneven marks. Simple."

Wyman snorted. "Sometimes."

"This machine is foolproof," Captain Wyman. You saw my last one. The slate on that was not as sensitive as this." McKee looked injured.

Auxiliary at Park Elects

BUENA PARK. — Zoe Jackson was named president of the Buena Park American Legion auxiliary here recently, and Elsie Hassel, vice president, with Vivian Nicodemus, Orange county council president, installing the new officers.

Georgia Clever, junior past president, presided at the meeting. Another guest was Florence Mathews, president of the Brea unit. Refreshments were served by auxiliary members.

CENTER PLANS YULE PROGRAM

GARDEN GROVE. — A pot-luck supper and Christmas program for children will feature a meeting of the Garden Grove Farm Center at the Woman's clubhouse Thursday evening. Supper will be at 6:30 o'clock with the center providing meat, rolls, butter and coffee. Mrs. Edna Chaffee, home department president, is in charge of dinner arrangements.

A short business session will follow with A. D. Smiley giving the director's report and delegates to the recent state convention at Modesto giving their reports. Irving German, who is arranging the entertainment program, will also lead in singing.

HEIRESS BETTER

SAN FRANCISCO. — Doctors attending Geraldine Spreckles, 21-year-old California heiress and screen career aspirant, said she was recovering satisfactorily after an appendicitis operation yesterday at Dante hospital.

POKING FUN

"I don't want the papers to get ahead of it—and start poking fun at me. They like to get ahead of stuff like lie detectors, and I don't want the office overrun with reporters."

"At the test there will be present Miss Roland, her attorney, Sam Keene, who has also agreed to be quiet about it; Mr. Howard, who, Doctor McKee because somebody has got to work the machine, myself—and, you like to be in on it, Mr. Blair?"

"I would, sir," Howard's secretary said eagerly. He had been standing back of the novelist, Howard spoke, "You mean if I should, jagged lines on the slate, not nice even wavy ones."

"Howard spoke. 'You mean if I should, jagged lines on the slate, not nice even wavy ones.'"

"Well, we'll see. Be interesting anyway," Howard said. The machine fascinated him.

He couldn't take his eyes off the small black roll of paper, which tomorrow morning would record either jerky white marks or smooth even marks. Nancy's lies or her truths.

"May be interesting for you, Mr. Howard, but for me it's only a headache." Wyman took a puff on the cigar Howard had given him. Those machines are a big chance in my profession. Sure, Doctor McKee says they're foolproof but I've known them not to be.

"Remember Al Durbin, Doctor McKee? Remember his defense insisted on a lie detector test, and we consented and you brought down your machine. May not have been this one, but it was one of them."

"I knew the man was lying, sure as night he was lying, and the machine went right along, nice as pie, his blood pressure evened out and the lines nice and wavy and even on the slate."

"Remember the defense took the records of the test into the trial, and Al was acquitted? Remember he died a year ago, and he confessed on his deathbed that he had married Buff Tichnor? How do you account for that, Doctor McKee?"

"I can't account for it, Captain Wyman."

"I thought you couldn't. Well, that's what I'm afraid might happen in this case. What if your machine registers even nice pretty small wavy lines? That will mean under your theory that Nancy Roland is telling the truth, won't it?"

"It will."

"And I know she's telling a lie. We've evidence to prove that she's telling a lie. But tomorrow morning her lawyer will be in here with her when she makes the test. He won't miss a bet like that. If your machine shows me that she is telling a lie, well, I'm all right."

"Pretty safe with my evidence. But on the other hand, if your machine goes wrong, if the lines are pretty and neat and all that, I'm in deep. Her lawyer will take the evidence to court just like Al Durbin's lawyer did—just like other lawyers have done."

"It'll be hard to get a conviction. I'll be in bad. It's my job I've got to be thinking of—not your machine. My job and my future. I'm not going to be made a laughing stock just because you brought a machine down from Berkeley."

CONSENTED

"I thought you had consented to the test, Captain Wyman. I understood from the wire from Mr. Howard when he made the arrangements that you had agreed to it."

"I did, Doctor McKee. I did, but only because Mr. Howard asked me to. Only because he agreed to take over the expense of your trip down here, and your trip back."

"Police department won't stand any expense—after the Dublin case—on lie detectors. One stip-

LAGUNANS TO DEDICATE NEW CHURCH

LAGUNA BEACH. — Next Sunday the Christian education building at the Community Presbyterian church will be dedicated. The first floor will be known as "Fellowship Hall," and the second floor, "Hill's Hall," which was built for Nellie Ford Hills and the late Anna Althea Hill, who was superintendent of the Sunday school for 15 years and president of the Laguna Beach Art association for five years.

Two special services have been arranged. At 11 o'clock Dr. Glenn W. Moore, Elder Frederick B. Walker, Robert Young and George W. Prior, treasurer, will have a part with the minister, Rev. Raymond I. Brahm, in the services. Dr. Ezra James Egly, minister of Calvary Presbyterian church, Riverside, will speak on "Palestine Today," and will illustrate his address with moving pictures taken on his recent trip, at the evening hour.

OLD TIME TROUPE TAKES FINAL CURTAIN

VAUDEVILLE
TEAM SPLIT
BY DEATHEddie Klein, SERA
Bandmaster, Dies

The final curtain has descended on Eddie Klein, well-known conductor of the Federal Music Project band unit. Word of Klein's death Saturday night at his home at Surf Side Colony, Seal Beach, was received here today by Leon Eckles, project supervisor.

In failing health for weeks prior to his demise, Klein was forced to retire from active work and his place as bandmaster of the band unit on the open-air series of concerts in Birch Park was filled by Dale Porter.

A human interest story, a story that is true of countless people of the stage, is embodied in the career of Eddie Klein. For thirty-five years, he and his equally talented wife, who survives him, were vaudeville headliners, trotting the length and breadth of the land on the Keith-Orpheum circuit. They had a musical act, the Kleins, sometimes augmented by a small band, more frequently done as a "team" with Eddie at the piano and his wife putting over the songs. They were billed as Klein and Murphy during those days when vaudeville was at its height. You had to be good to get a "spot" on the Keith circuit; you had to be even better to stay there. The team of Klein and Murphy had won and kept an enviable place in high brackets of the theatrical world.

Then, with the advent of the movies, vaudeville slowly, surely, suffered a decline. Too dishearteningly fast, vaudeville houses were darkened, torn down, and the sites of many of the old shrines dedicated to their profession, gigantic buildings patterned after Cathedrals, sprang up to house the productions of the motion picture industry. Vaudeville, like Hamlet, lay dead.

Finding it difficult to bridge the great gaps in their branch of the show business, the Kleins retired from the stage, coming to California and settling in Long Beach. They tried their hand in a new venture, opening a candy store and soda fountain, and sometime later Eddie joined the Long Beach municipal band where he remained as saxophone soloist for five years. And time marched on.

Three years ago, Klein took charge of the SERA band here, serving as conductor, and up until a month before his death, he acted in a similar capacity for a period of two years with the WPA band.

Frequently in the recent past this old, popular team of Klein and Murphy were called upon to put on a skit, gratuitously, for some benefit or the other but for the most part, they were far removed from the plaudits of audiences as theatrical entertainers. And only a few short weeks ago, Eddie summed it all up with the optimism in the vernacular of his profession: "It is better to be a 'has been' than a 'never was.'"

Eddie has taken his last curtain call and his passing is noted with deep regret by his fellow workers on the Federal Music Project.

Funeral services with Masonic rites were held this morning at 10 o'clock at Motell's funeral establishment in Long Beach.

BIKE THEFT WAVE

A wave of bicycle thefts hit Santa Ana last night when four cyclists reported their vehicles missing. Winslow Pontious, 832 North Birch street, told police his bicycle was stolen from in front of the Y. M. C. A. building shortly after 8 p. m.; Ronald Choate, 319 East First street, reported theft of his bicycle from a rack at the Broadway theater.

I JUST FOUND
OUT—Blue Printing
Camera Science

Modern photography is an art, but the results of one Santa Ana camera are strictly a science. This camera's sole job is copying, and its pictures are exact in every detail. They're even admissible as evidence in court.

Operated by the Orange County Blue Print shop, the camera (weighing 400 pounds, worth nearly $2000) is Santa Ana's only photostat machine, is used to copy important documents, checks, letters, etc.

Though the blue print shop specializes in both blue printing and photostats, there's no connection between the two, and they're done by entirely different processes. Photostats are made by projecting the picture through a camera lens and onto sensitized paper "film"; no cameras or lenses are used, on the other hand, in making blue prints, which is strictly a contact process.

Architects and engineers are best blue print customers, pay for their prints by the square foot, because they're made on a long roll of paper sensitive enough to turn blue if exposed to the sun for a minute and a half.

Indoors, blue prints are made by drawing opaque lines on transparent paper, laying the paper on the sensitized roll and exposing it to five 1000-candlepower carbon arc lights. The process is continuous, since the exposed paper is darkened, torn down, and the sites of many of the old shrines dedicated to their profession, gigantic buildings patterned after Cathedrals, sprang up to house the productions of the motion picture industry. Vaudeville, like Hamlet, lay dead.

Photostats also are made on a roll of sensitized paper, but the process is altogether different. The 300-foot roll is threaded into the camera like a roll of kodak film, is rolled down through the camera and cut off into a fixing bath when exposed.

The camera—rear of which is inclosed in a darkroom—is mounted horizontally but takes pictures vertically. That's because a special white and vice versa. The lens to turn the picture backwards as it enters the lens. The negative thus is a direct—instead of reversed—reproduction.

In a photostat negative, black appears where the original is white and vice versa. The negative must be re-photographed to get a copy like the original.

Negatives are the only photostats admissible as evidence, because they can't be tampered with. The negative can be retouched before the positive is made, but a judge could spot any changes in the negative itself.

Winning Crash Suit,
Man Is Sued

Victor in a suit against the county after an auto-ambulance crash which killed two men, Charlie C. Wilson went to court today as a defendant.

Wilson, who got a $2000 verdict against the county for damages to his car and injuries sustained in a collision with a county ambulance last June 10 at First street and Verano road, is being sued for $40,980 by Mrs. Della Dorothea Biggs, wife of Ernest Biggs, who died in the crash.

Biggs and another intern were cremated after the ambulance skidded into a service station, overturned and burst into flames after the collision. Mrs. Biggs and her son, Merlin, 4, claim Wilson caused the crash.

Judge to Address
Civitan Club

Instead of meeting at noon, members of the Civitan club will convene this evening at 7:15 in Daniger's cafe where they will hear a talk by Kenneth E. Morrison, judge of the justice court in Santa Ana.

Retiring president, Chet Page, will hand over the gavel to Everett Parks, new president. Officers of the club suggest that members bring their wives to the meeting this evening.

Burglar Loots
Cash Register

Fifteen dollars in change was stolen from the cash register of Sam Gish's restaurant at 518 East Fourth street in a burglary last night.

Gish discovered the loss this morning and told police the cafe apparently had been entered by forcing the screen on a rear window.

XMAS SEAL
SALES FALL BEHIND

Sale of Christmas seals in Orange county is falling behind the record set last year, officials of the county Tuberculosis and Health association warned today, as they announced plans for a radio campaign to bolster the seal drive.

At this time last year $1451 had been deposited in the association's account, as compared to $990 for this year.

First in a series of radio talks over KVOE is slated for tomorrow at 12:15 p. m., when H. D. MacBird, of Orange, will talk on "A Good Old Custom."

At the same hour on Dec. 15, 22 and 29 following members of the Santa Ana Toastmasters club will give talks: Bill Fernandez, Hubert J. Gohres and Ted Blandin. Their subjects will be "The World-Wide Christmas Seal," "Good News for Christmas" and "A Two-Billion Dollar Leak."

The drive against tuberculosis carried on by the association enlists radio broadcasts, newspaper publicity, motion pictures, exhibits, printed matter, speakers bureau and demonstrations, officials pointed out. Last year more than 500 persons were examined in the Friday afternoon clinics held at the office of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association at 112 West Fifth street. During the present year more than 300 have been examined.

J. C. DEBATERS
GO INTO ACTION

Six Santa Ana Junior college debaters travel to San Bernardino J. C. this afternoon to compete in the first round of the Eastern conference tournament.

Debate on the subject: "Resolved: That the National Labor Relations board be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes" will be Ernest Barrett, James Bartlett, Christine Burbank, Jack Hutton, Dick Geeting, and Isamu Masuda, all representing the local institution.

Beginning at 1 o'clock, the tournament debates will continue until each team has met the representatives from the other six colleges in the conference. Conference members include Riverside, Fullerton, Pomona, Chaffey, Citrus, Santa Ana and the host, San Bernardino Junior college.

Each of the teams will be required to debate both the affirmative and the negative side of the question. Speeches will be limited to 10 minutes for the constructive and five minutes for the rebuttals.

Crawford F. Brubaker, debate coach at Pomona, and forensic commissioner in the conference, is in charge of arrangements for the matches.

Yachtsman Sues
On Beach Zoning

Application of William A. Bartholomae, jr., wealthy Newport yachtman, for an injunction against Dr. Howard W. Seager, secretary of the beach city planning commission, was being heard by Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames today.

Bartholomae contends that proceedings of the planning commission and city council were inadequate, when they allowed Dr. Seager a variance in the city zoning ordinance which permitted him to construct a building even with the property line adjoining a lot owned by the Bartholomae Oil corporation. Bartholomae contends the proposed building will destroy view from his lot.

Royal Arch to Install Official

H. G. Lycan will be installed high priest of the Santa Ana chapter, No. 73, of the R. A. M. for the ensuing year in the Masonic temple Thursday evening. A surprise entertainment is to follow the ceremony. The public is invited to attend both occasions.

Junior Past Grand High Priest Leonard Thomas of Los Angeles will be in charge of the installation, assisted by Lew Butterfield, deputy grand high priest of San Diego. Mr. Butterfield will also be master of ceremonies.

Woman Dies
In Orange

Mrs. Etta B. Wales, 73, died early this morning in the Sunshine apartments, Orange, where she had made her home for the past three months. Mrs. Wales was born in Wabash, Ind., and was a resident of Santa Ana for nine years prior to moving to Orange.

She is survived by her husband, John W. Wales; one daughter, Mrs. Daisy Archibald of Denver, Colo.; five grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Olive Keenan of Rocky Ford, Colo. Funeral services will be announced later by C. W. Coffey, funeral home, Orange.

CITRUS TOUR TO RIVERSIDE
PLANNED

Under the auspices of the agricultural extension service and the citrus department of the farm bureau, another citrus growers' tour will be conducted to the citrus experiment station at Riverside on Dec. 14. The trip has been requested by numerous Orange county orange growers and all ranchers are cordially invited to participate.

Caravans will form simultaneously at the packing houses at Olive, and at the Santa Fe depot yards at Placentia, before 8:30 a. m. Details of the trip are under the direction of Harold E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor.

On this trip growers will be given an opportunity to meet the various investigators who will give the latest progress reports on results of fertilization, bud selection, pest control, granulation, mottle leaf and scaly bark control, and other projects under way. The morning session will feature reports by the investigators and a demonstration session will be conducted through the various plots in the orchards.

Over 200 growers attended the last tour, says C. Jack Zinn, chairman of the citrus department. Present indications point to a well attended session, and what his experiment station is doing for the industry.

Growers are asked to take basket lunches. Coffee and cream will be provided at the station.

Civil Service
Exams Announced

Santa Anans interested in the positions of statistical and marketing agent at $1800 a year and junior fisheries statistical and marketing agent with a salary of $1620 a year in the bureau of fisheries should visit the office of Frank Cannon, secretary of the U. S. civil service board of examiners, at the post-office.

The two positions will be filled under the regulations governing the federal civil service. Certain education and experience in fishery work are required.

SANTA WHITE FOX
BY SIGRID ARNE

THERE SAT THE WHITE FOX ON THE WINDOW SILL

THE STORY SO FAR: Santa suspects that Helga, a doll, has been slipping out at midnight to ski with a white fox. So he asks the tin soldiers to stand guard around her at night.

Chapter Eight
THE GUARD

Helga pulled her blue silk comforter over her yellow curls when she saw the tin soldier set a guard around her bed.

"My gracious," she said to herself, "how will I ever get out to ski with the white fox? Santa must know!" She shivered but she found enough courage to put her head out and ask the soldier captain:

"Please may I go out with the fox tonight? You know how much the shining fields of snow and the cold, wild wind and the dark night sky mean to me. I must go!"

The captain looked embarrassed and said: "Please don't think I told Santa. And please don't be angry, but I am here to keep the fox away tonight."

"Dear, dear," said Helga. The clock struck 10. Then it struck 11.

"Just an hour," whispered Helga. Then the clock struck midnight. There sat the white fox on the window sill his pointed ears outlined in the moonlight.

"What's this?" he whispered through the crack at the bottom of the window. "Why the soldiers?"

But he knew very well, and no one answered him but the soldier captain who said, "Go away."

For a long time the white fox just sat there. Then suddenly he at the 20th street station who ever had seen a Chinese doll. But they started a hunt anyhow, pinning their hopes on circulars to silver and gold merchants in the thought that the thief might try to dispose of the dollars as old metal.

GOT HIS WISH

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Frank P. McGowan, jr., told his parents he wanted to entertain a fire chief, a police chief and a railroad conductor at his third birthday party.

The desired guests, Fire Chief A. Mac Marsh, Police Chief H. W. Waynson, and Captain J. E. Glesner, conductor on the Southern railways, walked in, attired in uniforms aglitter with brass buttons, just as the cake was cut.

NO JOBS BUT AGRICULTURE
EXAMS SLATED

There aren't any jobs open now, but Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs today announced written examination for inspectors, used to establish an eligible list for appointments.

Written tests will be held Dec. 29, with oral examinations later for those who pass the written examination.

"No vacancy at present," said Tubbs, "in the Orange county agricultural office, but a state law requires that the director of agriculture pass on the qualifications of all persons desiring to become county agricultural inspectors, and at the present time the eligible list is entirely exhausted."

Candidates, said Tubbs, may select one or more of the following branches of the work in which to qualify: plant quarantine and nursery stock inspection; field and orchard inspection and plant pest control; standardization of fruits, nuts, vegetables, eggs and honey; and rodent control and seed inspection; and apilary inspection.

Besides the specific branches of the work which he selects, each candidate will be examined on his knowledge of the agricultural code and other laws and regulations.

Applications must be filed with the director of agriculture at Sacramento by Dec. 18. Blanks may be obtained at Tubbs' office in the courthouse annex.

FLOOD DAMAGE
CAUSES SUIT

Niels Anderson, Anaheim rancher, opened today his suit against the Anaheim Union Water company for $2000 flood damage to his ranch.

Anderson's case was being heard in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court. He claims the water company maintained an embankment which dammed the natural flow of water, causing his land to be flooded to a depth of from one to five feet during last winter's flood.

Humane Society to Hold Election

New officers for the Orange County Humane society will be named tomorrow night in the assembly rooms of the Weber bakery, 2656 North Main street.

Transportation may be arranged by telephoning Mrs. J. T. Neal, 830.

Tomorrow: The Fox's Den.

Eastern Star Dignitaries Installed

Impressive and colorful rites last night in the Masonic temple installed Mrs. Helen Lurker as worthy matron and Fred Pope as worthy patron of Hermosa chapter, Order of Eastern Star, in the 49th annual installation ceremony of that group.

Lovely flowers were used throughout the temple, with baskets at the star points arranged in the form of a star and lighted from within. Other beautiful floral pieces were worn or carried by the officers being installed. Taking part in the installation ceremony were Elizabeth Lewis, retiring worthy matron, and Harold Nelson, retiring worthy patron; Helen Edwards, grand conductress; Z. B. West, master of ceremonies; Lois Osterman, chaplain; Clara McCord, chaplain, and Janet Martin, organist. Dolly Pope installed her husband, Fred Pope, as worthy patron.

Other officials taking their positions last evening were Clara Seaver, associate matron; Dr. James Workman, associate patron; Nell D. Winslow, secretary; Etta D. Sweet, treasurer; Edith Hancock, conductress; Zada Berry, associate conductress; Harriet Doll, marshal; Edith Snow, chaplain; Mayme Haven, organist; Faye Minnie, warder; Eugene McBurney, sentinel; Agnes Lindig, flag bearer; and H. H. Allen, light tender.

Star points were all gowned alike in white frocks, and carried pink shower bouquets of sweet peas. Nell Neighbour read a lovely poem during the installation of the five, who included Bessie McWilliams, Adah; Zetta Edmonds, Ruth; Marguerite Cave, Esther; Leota Allen, Martha, and Helen Mabe, Electa.

Mrs. Lurker wore a lovely corsage of orchids, as did Mrs. Lewis. Mrs. Lurker received a huge basket of chrysanthemums from Mr. Lurker, and presented rose corsages to all her workers. All the men wore gardenia boutonnieres. The flower committee included Elizabeth Moore and Ethel DeWolfe.

Harold Nelson received his past patron's jewel in the form of a watch from Fred Pope, and Mrs. Lewis was awarded her jewel in a lovely ring setting by Nell Winslow.

Entertainment during the evening included "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, sung by Pearl Livesey, accompanied by Mayme Haven. Emma Henry whistled "Sunshine of Your Smile" and Verna May Harner sang three selections accompanied by Mrs. Shields. Completing the program, Helen Edwards spoke briefly on "Friendship."

Alice Pierce, deputy grand matron of the 59th district, was a special guest.

Something tall and smart in hats is this telescope toque of black felt to wear with a winter coat. A "feather" of glistening black and white composition makes effective contrast to the dull surface of the felt.

Your Baby Book

By EDNA WILSON

Christmas is really with us, try as we will to avoid facing that momentous time! We could forget just how close that December 25th is until the usual lamp poets donned bright green trees with multi-colored twinkling lights. And all the windows are filled with intriguing toys. And all the kiddies clustered about those shining shops are pointing out what Santa Claus will bring them.

Just about that time our most prominent Junior Ebells up and give us a charming little play all about Christmas and things, with our most prominent youngest set in attendance. So now we simply can't overlook Christmas.

Our information today comes to us first hand—from the stage of the auditorium instead of the audience. You see, our Betty Guild, who used to conduct this column, was a very pretty Wendy with Peter Pan at the play. She reported a lot of funny things when the little tots joined in the spirit of the fun.

All the youngsters protested with glee when Marie Terry, as Little Black Sambo, improvised some lines and referred to her "pretty pink umbrella." As one voice they all shrieked, "No! No! It's green!" And even after the play was all over, the little ones were made happy with great big Santa Claus balloons donated to the cause by Claude Brakebill of the Shell Oil company.

Just there in the entrance audience was Mrs. Clarence Ranney with chubby, blue-eyed Faith clutching two balloons, one for herself and one for baby Joyce at home. Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus brought her dark-eyed little son, Stanley Jr. And Jeanne Louise Robinson, wide-eyed daughter of the Eugene Robinsons, was dashing about in important fashion, mothering several smaller infants.

Two solemn little blond youngsters, both boys, sat for about an hour on a bench afterward, without saying a word. They were the two sons of the James Workmans—and they were wondering very seriously just how it was that they'd seen Santa Claus, all in red suit and white whiskers, but he had their mother's voice! Little Margaret Walker was puzzled about it, too, and kept inquiring where Santa Claus left his reindeer. Margaret was the little lass who yelled, "There's my Mummy!" when Gretel appeared.

So I guess it really was the chickies of the drama's stars that got the most fun. Jimmie White got a tremendous kick out of his mother, Mrs. Thornburn White as Robinson Crusoe, with a long grey beard, and a really truly parrot. (Mrs. J. C. Horton's if you're wondering!)

Of course it really was a shame that Charlotte Mathis' little Lewis couldn't be there to point at his Mom with pride, because he had a bad cold. Shirley Stauffer was also cold-bound, but her mama, Mrs. Alvin Stauffer, a loyal Ebelle, went in her place and took home a balloon and a sucker, which was also presented with hundreds of others by that certain oil company.

Little Claudia Brakebill, daughter of the donor of the gifts, is far too young—six months—to go see her Mommy as Alice in Wonderland. In the same fix was little Edith Scripps about her mother as the Hushabye Lady, but she'll probably get in on it next year. Audrey Zaiser's little Julianna is still too young to be able to appreciate her mother as Cinderella—but there'll come a day!

Harriette Dale was afraid she'd scare her Harold Jr. too much in her weird clown face and straw-stuffed Scarecrow of Oz costume, so he wasn't there. But we did see in the audience Mrs. Stanley Anderson helping mother blonde little Carolyn (with the deep voice) and brunette Jimmie Harrison. Freddie Tarr was almost obliterated by his man-style hat, but thought the show was "okey."

Not to be outdone by flashy grown-ups, the young ladies and gentlemen were hosts and hostesses at several small theater parties. For instance, we saw Miss Nancy Hurd with Mrs. Nylin and four young guests—Kenneth and Jolene Loughton and Clayton and Marvella McGill.

In another group were Donny Holmes as host to Mary Jane Robertson, Jimmie Gerkin, Betty Anne and Harriet Hoffmann. Of course, Mrs. E. D. Holmes was in on the gala party, too.

And we mustn't forget the delayed birthday party that young Tommie Hall enjoyed. His Mom, Mrs. Edward M. Hall of 1901 Helliot drive, planned the party for Tommie, and started it with a merry little luncheon party at Danger's before the play. It was his tenth birthday, and all his little guests joined him in adding the lighted candles from their own tiny confetti-cakes to his bigger cake. The chief attraction was the gang—airplanes—was pretty well emphasized by the clever little candy toys as favors. Of course, there were the usual paper hats and snappers, and lots of presents for Tommie. The guests at his party were Clair Hollingsworth, Carmen McLoney, Norrene Smith and Jimmy Sleeper, George Barr, Howie Desmond, Stuart Hollingsworth, Billy Anderson, Jack Austin, Fleetwood Bell, Bobby Hockaday, Billie Menton, and George Corey.

Since we're through with the "Christmas Dream" for another year, maybe we should introduce you to two newcomers to Baby Book land today. But they're not through with Christmas! No, sir! They're just starting. They're nice so that Old St. Nick will need nice things about them in his big book.

Our first little lad comes from Orange and his name is John Benton Adams—Johnny. He's a little fella is a husky youngster and he was two years old on November 8. He has light brown hair and light brown eyes, and he's just learning to ride his trike. Johnny likes to build blocks and he plays ball with his Mom and Daddy. He's a much fun!

Johnny is very affectionate, but just when he wants to be. When anyone leaves, or when he goes to take his nap, or when he thinks he's going to be punished, it's always "I Love you" and "Kiss me!" There are ten little stuffed animals lined up on his bed that he's just ca-ra-zy about. Every single one has a name, and every evening Johnny can't go to sleep until he calls the roll and accounts for every one! There's a Billy and Nancy and Teddy Bear and Bow-wow and Bunny and all the rest. They're pretty cute except when Mom and Dad are in a hurry to entertain callers.

The Adams family has just moved and Johnny is getting acquainted with his next-door neighbor, little Dick Terry, who's 15 months old. This new home of the Adams' has four big orange trees, a novelty for Johnny. Now he has promised to "Pick all the fruit for orange juice."

Crazy 'bout dogs and kitty cats

Country Club Activities Planned

Planning a new program for the coming year, the busy matrons who, as wives of the executive board members of the Santa Ana Country club, have directed an entertaining campaign of social affairs for the past eight months, met last night at the home of Mrs. A. G. Flagg.

The new plan is to appoint a committee of 12 women, each of whom will be chairman of one month's activities during the year. Thus each will serve just one time, and can devote special energy to making her events doubly enjoyable.

December activities continue under the old regime, however, with the evening party for husbands and wives slated next on the calendar, to be held this Friday at 8 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Holmes and Mr. and Mrs. Flagg are hosts and hostesses, and many lovely prizes have been arranged for.

The afternoon bridge tea follows on the seventeenth. In the meantime, however, is the regular Sunday buffet supper, with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Guthrie and Mr. and Mrs. Philip McVicker as hosts and hostesses.

Present to arrange the new program, details of which will be released later, were Mrs. Richard Emison, Mrs. Roy Langley, Mrs. R. C. Holmes, Mrs. Howard Rapp, Mrs. Hugh E. Jones, Mrs. E. D. Holmes, Jr., Mrs. Gar Ross, Mrs. George Parker, Mrs. Riley Huber and Mrs. Flagg. Mrs. Harold Wright, Mrs. Bob Fernandez and Mrs. Bennie Osterman were unable to be present.

LEAGUE MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. SCRIPPS

Mrs. John P. Scripps and Mrs. Sara Johnston Taddon were co-hostesses yesterday afternoon to the Assistance league, in the Helliot drive home of the former.

Colorful cotoneaster berries decorated the drawing-room and individual tables where members were seated after serving themselves buffet style in the dining-room.

At a business meeting over which Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth presided two interesting reports were given, one a secretary's, by Mrs. R. C. Holmes and the other, a treasurer's, given by Mrs. Howard Timmons. So satisfactory were these that the group determined to enlarge its community activities during the coming year, and a new program will be announced later.

A Christmas get-together of the league will be held Dec. 20 at the home of Mrs. Lyman Farwell, with Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth and Mrs. Emrys D. White as co-hostesses.

SCOUT NATURE ADVISOR TO BE HERE

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Price, nature advisor for Girl Scouts in California, Washington, Oregon, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands, is to be in Santa Ana on Dec. 10 for an afternoon and evening of nature lore study.

From 3:30 until 4:30 p. m. she will talk to Girl Scouts and leaders in the social hall of the First Methodist church, 317 East Sixth street, on the fun to be had in nature adventures.

From 7 until 9 p. m. she will conduct a "Star Gaze" for high school, junior college girls, leaders and interested adults in room 110, college hall, 917 North Main street. This meeting is open to all of Orange county.

This is Mrs. Price's second trip to Santa Ana. Last year she led a field trip at Irvine Park for some 200 Girl Scouts of Orange county.

is young Johnny, but all he has for his own are the stuffed ones. But he still doesn't like the ocean very well, "cause it always rolls up all of a sudden just when he's four, and he's scared. Just as he does like the water, Johnny likes to take his bath and shower.

Last, but far from least, on our list for today is William Hosea Baker, scion of the Frank Baker family. He's 15 months old and won't have another real anniversary until next April the 27th. His big eyes are blue, and his soft hair is blond. He's big for his age (29 pounds, 31 inches) but his Mom is taking other people's word for the fact that he's forward and intelligent for his age too.

Billy has 14 teeth, which seems to be about normal. He doesn't like the beach either, but he loves to ride in cars and has a yen for horses, some of which he has ridden already. Billy has a little brown and white stuffed dog known to all and sundry as "Barkie." And to bed every night with Billy does Barkie go! He's noticing the toys in the windows for Christmas, but that Big Day thing doesn't mean a whole lot yet.

Billy is just beginning to say things, and for some reason, he never has wasted much effort saying "Mamma" or "Daddy" because they are always there anyway. His chief form of entertaining others at the moment is a lifelike imitation of barnyard animals he sees in his picture book. Lately Billy has picked up a very annoying phrase to would-be explainers, "What is that?" But his parents have discovered that it isn't because he wants to show the answers—just because it sounds good—that he says it.

So since I've pretty nearly filled my allotted space, X-mas me please. I'll quit now until next Tuesday when I quit more things to tell Yu-lee.

Novel Joint Meet Held By Clubs

About 60 members of the various clubs, with their advisors, were present for the affair, with dancing to Frank Hertzberg's recordings throughout the evening. A special brownie cheat dance was introduced by Marvin Hinton, president of the Junior Lions, resulting in much hilarity and fines for the one holding the broom when the music stopped.

Later in the evening refreshments were served by the two women's clubs. Miss Evelyn Richards of the Moav club, furnished the doughnuts, and Margie Lee Brown, Spinster, had charge of the apple cider. Men's clubs arranged transportation for the group from the junior college campus.

Miss LaVonne Frandson, president of the Spinners, issued an invitation to the students to attend the Pan-Hellenic dance in Veterans hall on Monday, Dec. 27. Patrons and patronesses for last night's party included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson, Bob Mize, Bob Alexander, H. Margie Lee Brown, Spinster, and Frederick H. Schroeder.

Spinster were the Misses Marian Baxter, Peggy Paxton, Ruth Junt, Audrey Sattler, Elaine McReynolds, Lorraine Black, Mary Henderson, Gloria Kirchner, LaVonne Frandson, Phyllis Koegler, Catherine Eklund, Mary Ann Newtner, Virginia Sheppard, Marjorie Lee Brown, Barbara Knuth, Delpha Wollett, Irene Krisher and Anne Wetherell.

SORORITY TO HOLD DANCE AT NORCO

The first of what will be annual Christmas dancing parties has been planned for Dec. 18 at the Norcorian club by members of Santa Ana's chapter of Delta Theta Chi, national social and service sorority.

The group met last night with the president, Miss Betty Vorce, to arrange details of the affair. Miss Marjorie Walton and Miss Irene Ross are in charge of favors and programs. The dance is to be semi-formal and chapters of Southern California have been invited to participate.

Present last night were the Misses Irene Ross, Marjorie Walton, Ann Detweiler, Mildred Loudon, Alice Whitten, Mary Bowyer, Lenore McFarren, Jeanette Leikhus, Adeline Loptien, Norma Kenney, Margie Livesey, Daisy Carr and Betty Vorce.

DECEMBER BRIDE IS HOSTESS AT TEA

An intimate little affair of the week-end was the tea party given by Miss Marjorie Lindsay, bride-elect of Weston Sprague, when the entertained bridesmaids and a few close friends at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. J. Lasby.

Chief diversion of the afternoon was examination of the many lovely things with which the young couple will furnish their home. Miss Lindsay was assisted by her two bridesmaids-to-be, Miss Marian Hawk and Miss Katherine McKinley. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Floyd Blower, was unable to be present.

Other guests were Miss Mary Tutill, Miss Ruth Warner, Miss Jane Crawford, Miss Martha Tutill, Miss Janet Diehl, Mrs. Thomas Talbert and Mrs. Robert Wimbush.

AMBER CIRCLE PARTY THURSDAY

Amber circle's annual Christmas party will be held Thursday at 12:30 p. m. at Danger's, at which time members will exchange gifts. Later they will adjourn to the lounge of the Masonic temple for cards.

In charge of the affair are the Mesdames Marie Beisel, Frances Brooks, Vada Barry, Amber Burke, Margaret Church, Leota Allen, Ida Dunphy, and Beulah Brightwell.

TOROSA REBEKAHS
A bazar and cooked food sale will be sponsored by the Torosa Rebekahs all day Saturday at 210 East Fourth street. The regular lodge meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the I. O. O. F. hall.

UNITARIAN ALLIANCE

Mary Stoddard Women in Drink-and-Dance Taverns Are Not True Specimens of Their Sex

It sometimes happens that when one of our readers writes a letter of advice to another, that one might be in need of advice, too!

Personal viewpoints of life, love and the humans we brush elbows with daily are very interesting, I think, even though they are somewhat warped by bitter experiences. That's why I'm printing the letter below from one man to another:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I ordinarily don't write letters of this kind, but I noticed the pitiful letter of Jack in your column and had to say something to him.

Dear Jack, let me give you a little advice. Get away from the sour grapes you are now associating with and join a crowd of intelligent men who can help you up instead of pushing you down and then go to work and make something of yourself. Forget that God ever created a woman. Put your mind on your work, study and better yourself. Fix your eyes on a star high in the heavens and resolve never to quit until you have reached it. If you do this you will be surprised how soon the fog you are now in will lift and the bright sunshine again.

You should support your son and when he gets older, educate him. When he is old enough to understand, explain to him why it was not possible to raise him normally. Apparently you are young and inexperienced in this love game. As you grow older you will get wise and learn that the only intricate a woman has in a man, in mirage or out, is his pocketbook.

As proof let me cite a few examples. The other evening I stepped into one of these drink-and-dance places to see the proprietor, a friend of mine. Being well dressed and prosperous looking, a bunch of the ladies around the tables eyed me like a flock of buzzards eyeing a fresh carcass. Soon one of the boldest approached, suggesting a drink. I told her politely I didn't drink. She then suggested a dance. Again I informed her I was a poor dancer. She finally sauntered away like a look of defeat like one who has made a sure bet and lost.

So, Jack, wake up and make a man of yourself and you will later in life enjoy the satisfaction of a man who has succeeded.

I really believe one sees the true San Franciscan looking their very smartest at lectures! This is the time of year when real celebrities—people who shape the development of the times in every corner of this amazing world—blaze a trail across the country to this city—and there is always an enormous, sophisticated and tremendously well-dressed audience there to receive them.

When the Shout Is 'Mad Dog'

No cry brings more terror to a mother's heart than that of "Mad dog!"

When that wild alarm sounds, panic spreads and men and boys with blazing guns come running to slay the beast. Thousands of pets have been slaughtered in this fashion in days past.

Now people know better. They realize that every dog which acts strangely is not mad. And they know that froth around the mouth is no indication of rabies.

When the alarm, "Mad dog" rings out, hearts still freeze with terror. There is a tendency to grasp guns; but education has taught the public that the best thing to do is call the police, poundmaster or health department.

Sensible action of this kind has stayed a rabies epidemic in La Habra, according to news reports. And it will stay one here, should the dread canine frenzy spread to Santa Ana.

Poundmaster Pickering lists these symptoms for rabies: The animal won't eat; when it drinks the water runs back out of the mouth because of paralysis of the throat; its lower jaw hangs; it is very irritable and has a tendency to snap.

Note this: It does not froth at the mouth, unless it has been running. Frothy jaws are not a sign of rabies.

If you or your neighbor's pet develops rabies symptoms, health authorities will be glad to take the animal into quarantine for 10 days.

They say: "Don't shoot your pet. You might kill an innocent, uninfected dog whose alarming symptoms are due entirely to something else."

Father Hubbard says North American weather will be "freakish" this winter. Well, almost anything would be better than that tiresome "unusual" weather.

They Spend Money Here

Spending money is fun, and Orange county is getting its share of "pleasure dollars," along with the rest of the state, as tourists flock here from all over the world to have a good time.

Some of the high ranking examples of what the tourist business is worth have just been revealed by Don Thomas, managing director of the All-Year Club of Southern California. They are:

Southern California: Second largest single source of primary income; next to oil.

Maine: Second, rivaling entire farm output.

Michigan: Second, topped only by automobile manufacture.

Wisconsin: Second, outstripped only by dairying.

Florida: First, value many times that of entire citrus crop.

Bermuda: Conservatively worth $8,413,275 in 1916.

More money is spent for amusement in Los Angeles than any other city in the U. S. A. except New York, Chicago and Philadelphia—the figure one year was $16,242,000.

Orange county has five out of six things (beaches, mountains, groves, fine homes, climate) that the tourist wants in his quest of pleasure, and visiting dollars undoubtedly have played a large part in the development of the coastline.

A slice of Fritz Kreisler's audience rushed out crying. A true artist, Fritz, but he had the aid of a tear-gas bomb.

Third Degree For an Editor

It is becoming more and more apparent that the National Labor Relations board is giving a superb exhibition of committing suicide.

In a few short months the board has gained a reputation for bias and unfairness which would have been impossible had the men in charge carried out the original intentions and spirit of the law it administers.

The master stroke of stupidity is the absurd attack upon the editor of a national steel magazine, "Mill and Factory," for criticizing the board.

This editor has been subpoenaed and ordered to produce his papers, correspondence and memoranda relating to an article which he wrote criticizing the board and its investigation of the Weirton Steel company at Weirton, W. Va.

The editor is refusing to cough up, and now the labor board threatens to have him cited for contempt.

Perhaps the NLRB can force the editor to give the information. But it will be the most expensive case the board ever attempted, because it will be giving the writer a taste of the third degree.

And when an official gives an editor the third degree no technicality can prevent the general public from interpreting the action as an instance of interference with the freedom of the press.

Now if Hailie Selasse would recognize Chiang Kai Shek almost everybody would have recognized almost everybody.

Take Detour!

Pointed and emphatic highway signs aren't entirely a development of our own generation. Occasionally our ancestors saw one in the good old days.

Stewart Edward White's book, "Old California," records that at the intersection of Clay and Kearney streets, San Francisco, in 1850 there was erected the warning:

"This Street Is Impossible, Not Even Jackassable."

Britain and Japan are near another showdown in south China. So far Japan has won every pot with a pat hand.

Income Tax
Agents Remind
Of Prohibition

By

Westbrook
Pegler

NEW YORK.—Henry Morgenthau's statement denying that Herbert Hoover had been persecuted or otherwise unfairly treated by the income tax reviewers and inviting information from anyone who believes that he has been mistreated may be taken as an intramural warning to the members of the reviewing force if not as a change of policy. In a previous announcement the department has taken occasion to caution the investigators against persecution of those individuals whose returns were publicly dissected by the committee on tax avoidance.

So that makes twice in less than a year that the treasury has found it necessary to remind the agents that they are not authorized to bounce citizens around for personal, political or other ulterior reasons.

There would seem to be an implied admission concealed somewhere in this, but whether there is or not the fact remains that the agents still have the power to do so. This power is that twilight zone, as the treasury described it, of cases in which the agent may make his own interpretation and allow or disallow claims according to his disposition and delve into private matters which can have no conceivable bearing on the correctness or honesty of the income tax return.

OFFICIAL BULLDOZERS

That this zone contains possibilities of graft and malicious harassment has been admitted, and that some of the agents have been needlessly overbearing in their dealings with the taxpayer is plainly suggested by two admissions. Given such power, men will be tempted to regard themselves as official bulldozers, and it would have been strange had some of them not come to feel that they were persons to be feared upon and placated.

The situation is not peculiar to the present administration, however, for as long ago as 1927 the late Senator Schall, of Minnesota, wrote that "the agents can trump up taxes and charges against the perfectly decent and innocent taxpayer and magnify and twist pretexts to do it."

"Having started in pursuit," Senator Schall wrote, "the agent apparently has or assumes authority to impute fraud to the most innocent transactions and the perfectly innocent taxpayer must submit to the indignities, odium and indignities of fraud and criminality and be put to the expense to prove to his own government that he is not a criminal. Cases have been known where to hold any tax due would be so technically as to be fanciful and where no actual gain was had by the taxpayer. Yet marauding agents have charged fraud and criminality, the bureau apparently hoping that the charges might favor the bureau in forcing a settlement from the taxpayer. A citizen, smarting under false accusations, may go to Washington seeking an impartial hearing, but he is advised not to show his indignation to the bureau before whom the hearing is held because they can make it go hard with him. Advise is unhesitatingly given to crook the knee of those before whom one goes for a hearing, and these hearings are little better than a star chamber affair where every bias and partiality are against the taxpayer from beginning to end."

FLAGRANT ABUSE

"To give the overbearing of the American citizen to the operators of this enforcing agency is a flagrant abuse of power and a grave menace to the rights of the citizens. These operators soon sense the lodgment of this arbitrary authority and seek to exercise it. On their opinion, desire or whim any decent citizen may be charged with fraud. This opens up a field for all kinds of evil, permitting all forms of secret persecution under legal disguise, giving opportunity for revenge and spite. The agents and the department, often without warrant, pile up such an exorbitant amount of taxes that the taxpayer is hamstringed. The amount trumped up against him often is so large that to give a bond in the state papers of the President may be taken is often beyond his ability."

Senator Schall dealt with conditions under Calvin Coolidge, who has never been accused of unreasonable hostility to the economic royalist, and there was nothing in the state papers of the President then to encourage the agents to harass taxpayers. As to whether the agents have been encouraged to treat 'em rough by some announcements of the administration since 1929 is a matter of opinion.

This may be said for Henry Morgenthau, however, that he has at least taken cognizance of the fact that some of the agents had become inured with the spirit of the old prohibition agent.

On his arrival he found he was without money. The driver, not recognizing him, refused to permit him to leave the sled, saying: "Oh, no, my good officer, I have driven too many young sparks like you. With them it is out of sight, out of mind. I have been felt in the lurch too much." And he made the czar hand over his fur coat as a pledge, until the footman brought out the money.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(This is the first of a series of articles on housing—now one of the most important problems before the Roosevelt administration.—Ed. Note.)

New housing drive is fresh assault on unsolved New Deal problem; James Moffett, ex-FHA head, beset by family woes, failed in job; then McDonald took post, but despite ballyhoo, FHA still lagged; result—55,000 FHA houses built in year against 550,000 in 1936.

WASHINGTON.—The problem of housing has been approached from many different directions by the New Deal, but still remains unsolved. It is one of the most confused questions in Washington. This diversity of attack also has confused the public, and for purposes of clarification, it should be noted that there have been three different approaches to the housing problem.

1. The Home Owners' Loan Corporation (HOLC) inaugurated under Hoover to handle mortgages on homes already constructed which the banks considered poor risks.

2. The Federal Housing Administration (FHA) inaugurated by Roosevelt to finance the building of new houses and repairs on old ones.

3. The Housing Division of the Public Works Administration also inaugurated by Roosevelt to erect large scale apartments or community centers as an effort at slum clearance. These are intended for the lower income groups. More recently this work has been taken over by the newly created housing authority under the Wagner act.

The President's message to congress dealt with only with No. 2, namely the FHA, for the financing of private home construction with government aid.

JIMMY MOFFETT

The federal housing administration was established by congress in 1934 and had the misfortune to be placed in charge of James A. Moffett, who probably did as much to retard housing as anyone—with the possible exception of the building and loan associations.

Jimmy Moffett contributed $12,000 to the Roosevelt campaign and early leaped aboard the Roosevelt bandwagon. He deserved reward—and got it—though at the expense of the taxpayer.

Son of a wealthy oil man, Jimmy grew up among the different Standard Oil companies, now is vice president of Standard Oil of California. Jimmy's troubles seemed to follow him wherever he went. First he joined the NRA, resigning a $100,000 a year job as vice president of Standard Oil of New Jersey after a quarrel with Walter Teagle, president.

Roosevelt, next made him housing administrator, and he promptly fell in love with Mrs. Adeline Kim "Tugboat Annie" Moran, whose former husband once controlled the tugboat business of New York harbor.

Just about the time Jimmy divorced his first wife to marry Mrs. Moran, the first Mrs. Moffett was killed in a fall from the window of her New York apartment.

Then Jimmy's daughter, Adelaide, married David "Winkie" Brooks, nephew of Lady Astor, at rather an early age, and shortly thereafter her husband was killed in a fall from a New York hotel window.

Then Jimmy and "Tugboat Annie" were divorced, later remarried, and then divorced again.

HARD ON HOUSING

All of this was something of a setback to the federal housing administration of which Moffett was the boss. But the President, always lenient where human beings are concerned, let Jimmy stay on until Sept., 1935, when he resigned and was replaced by Stewart McDonald, one of his assistants.

Mr. McDonald, former St. Louis police commissioner, had married into the Moon Motor car family. Eventually both his marriage and Moon Motors broke up (though the two smash-ups were not necessarily related) and Mr. McDonald came to Washington where he appeared in riding breeches as a swank cocktail parties.

Mr. McDonald was regarded as a better housing administrator than Jimmy Moffett. It is quite possible that the housing fault was neither Jimmy's nor McDonald's, for it is hard to persuade the public to build houses. This point will be taken up in subsequent articles.

But be that as it may, the accomplishments of neither was anything to write home about. Jimmy Moffett devoted most of his efforts to ballyhoo. This was not entirely a bad idea, since it was necessary to show the man in the street how he could now borrow money from his own bank to build a home.

The FHA guaranteed all housing mortgages undertaken by the banks. So Jimmy went on the air with a series of broadcasts, and hired a staff of newspapermen in Washington as publicity promoters. Federal housing became the greatest ballyhoo agency of the government, which is saying a lot during these ballyhoo-minded days of the New Deal.

The result was that thousands of letters asking for loans poured into the FHA. A lot of people wrote in asking for money to pay the mortgage on their homes. Some of them borrowed money from the banks on the government guarantee of repayment.

It was the greatest publicity campaign put on in Washington since the days when William McAdoo floated the Liberty Loans. But when all the smoke had cleared away and the results were in, the number of houses built was pitifully small.

NO REAL RESULTS

In 1935, the first full year of operation (the FHA act was passed by congress in June, 1934) only 42,147 mortgages were issued. Of these, only one-half were for new homes, the remainder being to finance repairs.

Next year this figure went up to 109,611 mortgages issued, of which one-half again were new homes and the other half for repairs. Figures are not complete for this year, but during the first ten months, FHA issued 94,642 mortgages.

These figures mean very little unless compared with predepression building. During the six years from 1929 through 1936, the country built an average of 550,000 houses a year. Against this, the meager number of houses constructed through FHA financing in any one year was only about 55,000. This does not include privately financed building, but this was negligible.

In other words, with all the ballyhoo of Jimmy Moffett and the stimulus of government guarantees, housing had diminished to only one-tenth of what it was before the depression.

Meanwhile the loss of houses by

MRS. FDR IN 1940

To the Editor: Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is not unlike the Duke of Windsor in her traveling and work among all classes of humanity. If such activities of both were summed up, she might be found to be far ahead of the Duke.

Perhaps it would not be amiss to suggest to all thinking Americans who really have the love for their country at heart, that they consider her qualifications, if any, for the next president of the United States, provided only that such action could be taken without crucifying her on a political cross. I would be the last one in the world to desire so valuable an American citizen crucified in such manner.

It is high time that major parties realize it is no longer possible to put the wool over the eyes of the American electorate by propaganda and mud-slinging.

Political ranks should be purged of campaign managers who permit capitalistic propaganda which tends to disgrace an upright citizen who becomes a candidate.

UTOPIA VS. BEDLAM

To the Editor: Herbert Hoover really said something in his statement about one generation of properly-born adequately educated, healthy children bringing Utopia. Unfortunately, there's a catch in it. He knows one generation of properly-born children presupposes preceding generations of increasing excellence of birth, the knows, and everyone knows, that thoroughbreds are not born of mongrels in one generation nor in half a dozen. Neither will a race of men of the super-intelligence necessary to usher in Utopia be born of men of the present average of stupidity, in one generation.

True, there is an uncertain percentage of the earth's population that boasts some degree of education, culture, altruism, ability, etc., mixed with colossal ignorance, inefficiency, greed, hypocrisy, etc., of which most men do not boast. But these things do not constitute intelligence. Pure intelligence may be defined as an unerring grasp of the needs and ends of existence, and the ability and ability to further them for the good of all. One doesn't need much intelligence to see how far present mankind falls short of that standard.

Appropos of a coming Utopia, consider these propositions:

1. If the standard of living for all is to rise indefinitely, the population must not increase indefinitely.

2. Quality of population is of more importance than quantity.

3. A sensible practice of eugenics can improve the human race indefinitely, as domestic animals and plants have been improved.

4. All men, races, and nations would serve themselves infinitely better by cooperation than by antagonism.

5. The security of each depends on the well-being of all.

6. Human well-being can be hastened by hastening and guiding natural evolution through the discovery and application of natural laws.

No part of earth can become Utopia while the rest remains Bedlam. But that is no reason for discouragement. The democratic countries provide the necessary freedom for the production of ideas and discoveries in human welfare, and for their discussion and application—experimentation, if you please—which must accompany the progress toward Utopia, and which will in sufficient time transform Bedlam.

F. E. EGGER, Garden Grove.

I read an article the other day that said the present generation is amusement mad and that the search for constant entertainment is wrecking the foundations of the American home life. That sounds pretty scary, but I don't believe there's nothing about it. In most cases, the husband or the wife are interested 'nuf in home life to act as a balance for the other one.

I had an uncle that married a flighty woman and the other evening, after the supper dishes had been put away, he turned to her and said, "What are you going to do this evening?" She said "Well as soon as I finish my book, I'll write a couple of letters—then I'll listen to the radio for a while—and so on."

My uncle says "Well, as soon as you get to that 'so on,' don't forget them buttons on my shirt."

DAY BY DAY
With
O. O.
McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—There was great headwagging as to what would happen to the town's most fashionable restaurant, The Colony, when Ernest Ceret passed away at sea on his annual visit to Italy a year ago. Ernest, with his partner Gene, now in command, piloted the place to its deserved fame.

They were considered masters in team work. A "united we stand, divided we fall" combination. But Gene has carried on alone successfully. The Colony is the only dining place to inspire free write-ups in Town and Country, The New Yorker and Fortune. Its clientele is top notch.

The place is without pomp, inside and out. The entrance, a few steps off Madison in the 60's is up a short, narrow flight of steps. The bar and reception room are postage stamp size. No flunkies in livery. Just Bill, the wash room boy, who knows society better than the Social Register.

The dining room itself is small but clean and comfortable. Crowds do not flock to the Colony. The prices are high and food is the thing. Desires are somehow never go back. There is no music, and by 10 o'clock waiters begin stacking chairs on the tables.

Frazier Hunt is still another writer to drift from world capitals to the isolation of a ranch in Alberta. For years the Alexis, a born scribbler has been making his base in such cosmopolitan centers as London, New York and Shanghai. His acres adjoin the Canadian place owned by the Duke of Windsor. Along with his literary output, Hunt is making success of cattle raising and comes to New York only to talk things over with editors.

Chop chop: For the first time I came upon an intoxicated Chinese yesterday. Beautifully bottled, he was weaving across 54th street with a handful of ivory hewn back scratchers which he was trying to sell after bowing and delivering his singsong talk.

Down in the bar at Whyte's venerable restaurant on Fulton street is a painting of Herald Square, done in 1900. It was also on view at the Buffalo fair when resident McKinley was shot. Jim Corbett's son is shown in the foreground and there is a conspicuous sign—"manicure, pedicure, coiffure"—hands, feet and head. Even 37 years ago the beauticians were in evidence.

Like Job, the thing which they greatly fear seems to come upon the radio announcers. Namely, strange throat troubles which deprive them of voice. There's scarcely a week one is not stricken with laryngitis and there is that affliction called "gionies" which often comes, lightning-like, to render a victim hoarse just before broadcasting. In the pockets of such experts as Clem McCarthy, Graham McNamee, Sam Taub and other galling-gun-gabbers will always be found palliatives. Rudy Vallee and Floyd Gibbons use a pellet that costs several dollars for a small packet.

The zipper vogue, along with the economics of the world, has played hob with the calling of lady's maid. The tedious problem of dealing with the hooks and eyes and buttons is now accomplished with a quick swish of the wrist. Even the elaborate evening gowns that required so much maid service are now zippered. The expert lady's maid was one of the most highly specialized callings, usually held by trained French or German girls. Many of them got as high as $125 a month and their keep. Today the Job Wanted columns are filled with their pleas for work.

In the days when the theater was theater, the lady's maid to a great star lived in the grand manner. She was the buffer between the star and the public. The lady's maid traveled from city to city, often in private coach, and resided in the royal suites of magnificent hotels. Lily Langtry's maid, Gwendie, became almost as famous as her mistress. She was Tilton Hired, of the voluptuous Lillian Russell type, and was followed across the country by two of New York's reigning beaux of that era. I recall leaning against a post across from The Casino so long to watch her leave the stage exit one evening that a cop nudged me to move on. Was the time I told him, walking away fast, that I was a free born American citizen and had my rights, so I had.

FRAGMENTS OF MAN'S EARLY HISTORY

WOODEN TOOLS OF THE STONE AGE

PREVIOUS articles in this series on prehistoric man have been based, of necessity, mainly upon the remains of his tools. This was particularly so in dealing with our American Pleistocene man, for it is only by a few flint or stone instruments that anything at all is known of him. Consequently, that dim, distant part of man's history has become known as the stone age. Stone, however, was by no means early man's only workable material; many tools of bone and shell having been brought to light. Recent discoveries prove definitely that a big factor in man's early manufacturing efforts was wood.

It has been demonstrated that wooden instruments may effectively flake flint. In a culture which flourished in Europe 100,000 years ago, finer, flatter and longer implements were the result of learning to shape stone with wood.
